Compromise On Farm Bill Is Proposed

Supporters of Ike's Program View Offer As Sign of Success

WASHINGTON (AP) -- A compromise was proposed today by one Senate opponent of the Administration's flexible farm price supports The move was tagged by Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), as a sign the Administration would win

With a showdown vote to come later today, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) offered a proposal for flexible supports on basic crops at 85 to 90 per cent of parity

Was in Other Camp

Previously Douglas had been among those urging a one-year extension of rigid 90 per cent supports on cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts.

"Apparently some of the 90 per cent supporters are convinced they can't win," Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and leader of the floor fight for flexible supports, said.

Aiken is pushing for a flexible support range of 80 to 90 per cent of parity.

Douglas sought to raise the lower limit of the Aiken proposal from 80 to 85 per cent. The House voted for an 82½-90 range when it passed the overall farm bill.

The lawmakers are working under an agreement to cut off debate and force a decision on this and several other controversial issues in the complex federal farm program.

5-Hour Limit

When the Senate convened at noon a five-hour time limit applied to the administration proposal for flexible federal price support of 80 to 90 per cent of parity for five basic crops: Cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts

Parity is a farm product price said by law to be fair in terms of costs the farmer must pay.

Majority leader Knowland of California and Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) of the Senate Agriculture Committee said they are confident they can win the test by a narrow margin.

But Sen. Young (R-ND), spokesman for a bipartisan group that wants to extend the rigid 90 per cent supports that have operated since World War II, said he expects to defeat the 80-90 per cent proposal.

An unofficial advanced check seemed to back Knowland's claim. Forty-six senators were found to be favoring the administration plan. 44 were opposed and 6 undecided. With such a close margin, however, the number of absentees could turn out to be a deciding factor.

House Bill Approved

The House already has passed a flexible supports bill with a slightly higher minimum, 82½ per cent to 90, while the Senate Agriculture Committee decided 8-7 for the fixed 90 per cent rate.

Knowland said he hoped to complete Senate action on the omnibus farm bill with a late night session, but that appeared unlikely.

Even after the basic crop issue is settled, another fight may develop over support levels for milk, butter, cheese, and other dairy products

With millions of pounds of surplus butter, cheese and dried milk piled up in government hands, secretary of agriculture Benson lowered dairy supports from 90 to 75 per cent of parity on April 1. The House voted to boost them to 80 per cent, effective Sept. 1.

The Senate Agriculture Committee, by another 8-7 vote, recommended raising them to 85 per cent Aiken wants to hold them at the 75 per cent level and offer other kinds of benefits to dairy producers instead.

Sheppard Case Hearing Set Back by Judge

Charges of Prejudice To Be Considered by Court on Thursday

CLEVELAND (AP)—A hearing on charges of prejudice against the Bay Village Council president in the Sheppard murder case was postponed today until Thursday morning.

Defense attorneys for Dr Samuel H. Sheppard, the 30-year-old osteopath accused of clubbing his wife Marilyn to death, had filed an affidavit of prejudice against Gershom M. M. Barber, who was to have conducted today a preliminary hearing on the murder charge

Defense Asks Delay

Dr. Sheppard's attorney wanted to have Barber barred from conducting the hearing.

But when the affidavit hearing opened this morning, Atty. William J. Corrigan told Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick the defense had not had enough time to subpena witnesses to show Barber was prejudiced.

Richard S. Weygandt, Bay Village's law director, remarked that "they've had just as much time as we've had" but agreed to the delay Merrick set 10 a. m. Thursday for the affidavit hearing.

Remains in Jail

Dr. Sheppard was not in court, but remained in county jail.

Corrigan contends that Barber, as acting mayor, acted in a prejudicial manner against the defendant.

If Judge Merrick rules Barber is prejudiced, the preliminary hearing will be shifted to a municipal court in some other Cuyahoga County community.

Barber, who is also the suburb's Council president, has said if the affidavit is denied he will go ahead

Emilie Dionne Laid to Rest; Hundreds Sob

Grief of Surviving Quints Uncontrollable At Committal Service

CALLANDER, Ont (AP) — Emilie Dionne was laid to rest today in a little burial ground not far from the frame home where she and her quintuplet sisters were born 20 years ago.

She went to the grave in a party dress of light blue crepe, a white rosary in her hands.

Hundreds watched as the grey metal casket was lowered into the earth of the small Roman Catholic cemetery at Corbeil.

The surviving quintuplets — Yvonne, Annette, Cecile and Marie — sobbed bitterly during the committal service.

And few eyes were dry when it ended.

More than 500 mourners crowded Corbeil's faded red brick church for the funeral service, conducted by the parish priest, The Rev. W. H. LaFrance.

When he sprinkled holy water on the casket and intoned the departing prayers, Marie Dionne, who has had to give up at least temporarily her hope of becoming a nun, wept uncontrollably.

She left the church, assisted by her mother and her sister, Mrs. Rose Marie Girouard.

Clues Sought Into Killing of Dogs for Blind

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Sheriff's officers were checking numerous tips today in their quest for the person who threw strychnine loaded wieners into a kennel, killing eight dogs that were being trained to lead blind persons.

Deputy Sheriff Eric W Stephens, in charge of the investigation, said nothing definite had been turned up.

Meanwhile, John L. Sinykin, training director for the Master Eye Foundation of America, feared about seven of 15 other dogs made ill Saturday by the poison would not survive

Sinykin, who termed the poisoning as "the most inhuman act I've ever seen," knew of no enemies who might have poisoned the valuable animals.

Sinykin said the dogs that died had been valued at about $20,000. Among them was Sir Lancelot, the national champion.

Offers of aid and messages of sympathy reached Sinykin from more than a dozen states.

The Master Eye Foundation of America is a non-profit organization devoted to training German shepherds and providing them to guide blind persons.

Ex-Rep. Marcantonio Drops Dead on Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Rep. Vito Marcantonio, fiery, leftwing New Yorker, fell dead on a rain-swept street today.

The diminutive, 51-year-old former legislator was in the middle of a comeback effort. Defeated in 1950 by a Republican-Democrat-Liberal coalition, he was running again for Congress as candidate of the Independent "Good Neighbor Party."

Marcantonio represented an East Harlem district for 14 years. For many years until last November, he headed the American Labor Party, which sponsored Henry Wallace's presidential campaign in New York State.

An ambulance doctor said death was due to a heart ailment.

Senators Will Cull Charges On McCarthy

Some Counts To Be Dropped, Says Head Of Six-Man Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators sifting charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today indicated they will drop some counts and draft rules to keep their hearings from going far afield.

Both Senators Watkins (R-Utah) and Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), chairman and vice chairman of the six-man committee picked to hear censure charges against McCarthy told a newsman it is obvious some of the 46 specific allegations will have to be tossed out.

Lustron Deal May Be One

While neither would specify which ones he had in mind, a third committee member singled out an accusation that McCarthy had not given services of "comparable value" for a $10,000 fee paid him by Lustron Corp. for writing a housing pamphlet. The senator declined use of his name but said he would vote against investigating that accusation.

The charge was filed by Sen Fulbright (D-Ark), who with Senators Flanders (R-Vt) and Morse (Ind-Ore) detailed the 46 counts against McCarthy. The charges, a number of which overlap, range from allegations of improper treatment of committee witnesses to unlawfully obtaining government secrets.

A move to keep a firm hand when hearings get under way was promised by a Democratic member of the bipartisan special committee as it gathered for a closed session today.

Favors Public Hearings

The senator, who asked that he not be named said he will propose a rule of relevancy for testimony designed to curb any "bulldozer tactics" that may develop. He said he favors public hearings — with television and radio coverage barred — in which the chairman will have the right to cut off any witness when he attempts to go beyond the scope of the charges as defined by the committee.

The committee has already ruled out radio-TV coverage, with members saying they wanted to avoid a "vaudeville show" atmosphere The televised Army - McCarthy hearings this spring were criticized, even by participating senators, as too free-wheeling.

The committee may start selecting today the charges it will consider.

Absolved by Electorate

Sen. Ellender (D-La) gave his views on the Lustron fee charge in a weekend radio address. He said that if any moral wrong were involved, the people of Wisconsin already had absolved McCarthy of blame by re-electing him in 1952.

Ellender, who is not a member of the committee, said further in an interview that he does not believe the Senate will be willing to censure McCarthy for having made what Fulbright and Flanders

North-South Road To Have 2 Branches

One Runs Through Delaware, Morrow; Other Union, Hardin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state highway director, Samuel O Linzell, today tentatively recommended a route for the proposed Cincinnati-to-Conneaut turnpike with a branch running to Toledo

The suggested mile-wide band was recommended first by the J. E. Greiner Co., Baltimore, Md., engineering firm.

The route was shown to a group of Columbus and Franklin County planners who discussed what effect it will have on the metropolitan expressway system.

Subject To Change

As the meeting opened, Linzell emphasized the route is only tentative and subject to change to fit in with plans of communities along it.

Tom Donnelly, a project engineer for Greiner, said the entire recommended route covers 410 miles and includes 25 interchanges and entrances The route without the Toledo leg runs about 295 miles.

Here is how the route would go:

It would begin at the northern edge of Cincinnati, run northeastward toward the eastern edge of Dayton, nearly paralleling U S. 25. There would be three interchanges close to Cincinnati, and one at U. S. 35 near Dayton. Then it would turn east, crossing Ohio 72 a few miles south of Springfield, and U. S. 40 around Summerford in Madison County.

There would be interchanges where the turnpike crosses those routes.

Southeast of Mt. Gilead

Then it turns a bit northerly to make a semi-circle around Columbus, crossing U S. 33 about eight miles west of Dublin and swinging over to U S. 23 around Lewis Center in Delaware County. There would be interchanges on U S. 33 and 23.

The route then swings northeasterly to cross Ohio 95 about eight miles southeast of Mt. Gilead. There would be an interchange at Ohio 95.

From there the route swings northeasterly, crossing Ohio 314, Ohio 546, Ohio 97, Ohio 39 near Mansfield and U S. 30 a few miles east of Mansfield where there would be another interchange

From there it roughly parallels U. S. 42, crossing U. S. 250 about five miles east of Ashland, where U. S. 224 in Medina County where there would be another interchange.

Swings Toward Cleveland

From there it would swing toward Cleveland with interchanges at Ohio 94 and connecting with the Northern Ohio Turnpike now under construction south of Brecksville.

The Cincinnati-to-Conneaut turnpike then, for about 15 miles, uses the Northern Ohio Turnpike route, going directly east It leaves the Northern Ohio Turnpike, swinging northeast and crossing U. S. 422

Local Dentist Dies At Office, Preparing Treatment for Patient

Dr. V. Clyde Kissell, 68, a Marion dentist for 44 years, died unexpectedly about 9 45 this morning at his office at 149½ W. Center St.

He had returned to work this morning after being out of the office about four weeks because of illness. During that time he was a patient in City Hospital for seven days.

He was preparing to treat a patient when he suffered a heart attack and his death occurred instantly.

His residence was at 545 Cherry St.

Military Pact Signed by 3 Balkan Lands

BLED, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia, Turkey and Greece signed a military pact today aimed at welding a Balkan wall against any aggression by Russia or her cominform satellites.

The alliance was signed by the foreign ministers of the three powers—Koca Popovic of Yugoslavia, Stephan Stephanopoulous of Greece and Faud Koprulu of Turkey.

The historic move implements the Balkan friendship treaty President Marshal Tito's government signed in 1953 with her two neighbors who are members of the North Atlantic Alliance and brings Communist Yugoslavia a step closer to the Western orbit.

It also links Yugoslavia indirectly with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, although she is not a NATO member.

Cautiously worded, the pact pledges the three countries allegiance to the United Nations and protects Greek and Turkish obligations to NATO without committing Yugoslavia to a direct part in that security program

At the same time, however, the new treaty clearly aimed at arranging military collective insurance against the threat of comin-

Tension Rises In Morocco as Festival Nears

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) —Violence continued unabated over the weekend in French Morocco as nationalists stepped up their agitation for the return of exiled Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef

Tension appeared to be rising with the approach of the Moslem religious festival of Aid El Kebir tomorrow, commemorating God's sending of the sacrificial sheep to Abraham as he prepared to offer up the life of his son Isaac.

Leaders of the Nationalist Istiqlal (independence) party forbade the traditional sacrificial killing of sheep as a further protest against French rule

Some anti-Istiqlal groups, however, indicated they intend to disregard the nationalist ban.

Officials foresaw possibility of trouble at Rabat, where some 2,000 horsemen from outlying districts were expected today

The toll in Morocco's Port Lyautey rose yesterday to 13 dead, including 9 Europeans and 48 wounded after a new outbreak

New demonstrations also were reported at Fez.

Fighting broke out Saturday in the heart of Port Lyautey's Moroccan section. Eleven persons, including seven Europeans were killed and 32 wounded.

Yesterday a mob attacked police who went into the native quarter to remove French families living there. In the subsequent fray, two Europeans were killed and 16 Moroccans wounded. Police gave no report of Moroccan dead

Judge Declares 'Crime on Run' In Phenix City

Hand-Picked Grand Jury Opens Probe of Murder of Vice Foe

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — The brutal underworld here "is on the run," an emergency grand jury was told this morning, and now is the time to strike it down forever "with every arm and power of the law"

The stern remarks of Special Judge Walter B Jones came just before the hand - picked Russell County Grand Jury went into secret session to discover, if possible, who killed A. L. Patterson and root out the fantastic factors that led to his death.

The 18 jurors then retired with Special Solicitor George C. Johnson Jr., who called the investigative body back into session after a recess since July 21.

Judge Jones called the Phenix City situation a "harvest of hell and tragedy" that has helped put away many "lifeless bodies under the ground"

Fear has gripped the community, he said, "but the shoe is now on the other foot. Those who stand for law and decency here need have no fear . . . The underworld is never going to ride roughshod over you again"

The grand jury today climaxes more than seven weeks of the most intensive investigation in Alabama history, highlighted almost daily by action - packed developments that in many instances have cast suspicion on high state officials.

Some 125 witnesses have been served with almost 3,000 subpenas to give evidence which might help rid Russell County of a criminal colony that has proven time and again it will stop at nothing.

Adjournment Nears

Six Major Issues Facing Congress Before Windup

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least six major issues remain to be disposed of in the six working days left before the late Saturday target time for the windup of this Congress.

Even if all are cleared up, the Senate may not adjourn but instead take a recess to come back later to act upon a report from the special six-man committee set up to study a censure move aimed at Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The six major legislative issues still unresolved are farm, foreign aid, social security, the debt limit, antisubversive measures and atomic energy. Of these, a bill to revise the Atomic Energy Act appeared to carry the chief threat of a delay in adjournment.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) predicted overwhelming House approval some time today of a compromise bill to allow this country to share some atomic weapons data with its allies and to allow private industry to enter the atomic peaceful power field.

But Senate opponents claimed growing strength in a move to reject proposed patent provisions and send the measure back for a second attempt to adjust Senate-House differences.

Senate action is scheduled later in the week. Before the bill passed there originally, debate extended over two weeks and required 169 hours.

After three full days of debate, the Senate arranged to begin voting today on new farm legislation in which the principal issue is whether to continue rigid price supports on five basic crops or shift to the flexible system the Eisenhower administration is ad-

Meeting Tuesday

Charter Group To Select Educational Committees

A public meeting to form a citizens committee for the education of the public on the contents of the proposed City Charter for Marion will be held Tuesday night at the YMCA.

Walter Moore chairman of the Marion Home Rule Charter Commission, which called the meeting, said the gathering, would not be to debate the merits and faults of the proposed charter, but would be merely a gathering to form a group of interested citizens who would carry on the work of informing the public of the workings of the proposed charter.

THE CHARTER HAS already been signed, and City Council has approved its being put on the ballot in November. The Charter Commission was formed last November by the voters.

Under terms of the proposed charter, the city would switch from the present mayor-council type of government to the city manager-council type.

Under this form, the Council would hire a city manager to administer the government. This man would be directly responsible to Council for his actions, and could be removed at the will of the Council

Retained under the charter would be the present system of electing Council members, six from wards and three at-large The partisan ballot would also be retained.

ACCORDING TO MOORE, members of the citizens committee to be formed Tuesday would be chosen from the audience, with the possibility that some citizens not present may also be named to the group.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Room 201 of the YMCA. Members of the Charter Commission will preside at the gathering.

Auto Mishaps Hurt Seven in County Traffic

Michigan, Chillicothe Residents Injured; 2 In Columbus Hospital

Twe men from Michigan were seriously injured Saturday evening when the car in which they were riding went out of control and overturned on U. S. Route 23, seven miles south of Marion.

They were two of five persons hurt in seven accidents in Marion County investigated over the weekend by state patrolmen from the Marion post. City police reported eight accidents over the weekend with two injuries. One of the city accidents involved damage of less than $100.

Herbert Engels, 37, of Saginaw, Mich. and Earl Laur, 31, of Carol, Mich. were transferred to University Hospital in Columbus from Marion City Hospital for further treatment.

They were injured at 6:50 p.m. Saturday. State patrolmen report Engels, who was driving, tried to pass a truck on a bridge and lost control of the car as he pulled back into his lane of traffic.

The car went off the right side of the road as the vehicle headed south. It hit a fence owned by Harold Kuehner of near Marion and overturned. Engels suffered a fractured right hip and fractured pelvis. Laur suffered severe shock, internal injuries, and a compound fracture of the right leg.

Hospital authorities in Columbus reported this morning that both men were in satisfactory condition. Engels, however, was scheduled to undergo surgery.

The car in which the two men were riding was demolished.

Two other persons were slightly injured in a head-on collision on Route 23, five miles south of Marion at 9:40 p.m. Sunday. Hurt were Gary Patterson, 18, of Chillicothe and his mother, Mrs. Donna Patterson, 42. They were riding in a car driven by Archie Patterson, 48.

According to patrolmen, a car driven by Cecil Pierce, 25, of Cleveland tried to pass traffic heading north and failed to get back into his lane when the southbound Patterson car approached.

Extensive damage was done to the front of Pierce's car while moderate damage was done to the front end of Patterson's vehicle. Gary Patterson received a sprained left ankle. Mrs. Patterson suffered abrasions of both knees.

Pierce was arrested and ordered to appear in Municipal Court to answer a charge of passing without the assured clear distance. The injured persons did not require treatment.

A man from near Caledonia was injured in an accident at the intersection of Marion County Roads 67 and 196 in the northeast section of Marion County Sunday at 6:50 p.m.

Hoyt Foreman, 24, of near Caledonia received cuts and bruises of the right arm, a sprained right ankle, and bruised left shoulder, but did not require treatment.

He was hurt when his car and one driven by Ernest W. Yenny, 57, of Bucyrus collided at the county road intersection.

According to patroimen, Foreman was headed east on 67. Yenny headed south on 196 and turned east in the path of Foreman's car.

Minor damage was done to Yenny's vehicle, but Foreman's car was heavily damaged. Yenny was arrested and charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Extensive damage was done to two cars involved in an accident at "suicide corner," the junction of State Routes 95 and 98, at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

A car driven west on 95 by Thomas Otty, 26, of Ada collided with one driven south on 98 by Harold Lester, 40, of Ashville. Patrol reports indicate Lester turned east in the path of Otty's car. Lester was arrested and charged with failure to yield the right of way.

At 8:15 Saturday morning, a car and truck collided on Marion St. in Waldo. The truck was driven by Delbert Johnson, 26, of near Belle Center, while the car was operated by Mary Payne of Columbus.

Both vehicles were headed north. Patrolmen report the woman attempted to pass a stalled car. At the same time, the truck also tried to pass. The truck swerved back to the right and its bumper hooked the rear end of the woman's car.

Johnson was arrested and charged with changing lanes without caution.

An accident which happened Thursday evening was reported on the patrol post over the weekend by residents of the area. According to the reports, a truck driven by Donald Hull, 54, of Mount Gilead struck a bridge on County Road 195 about 6 p.m. Thursday.

Extensive damage was done to the front end of the truck, while a guard rail and upright supports on the bridge were also extensively damaged.

At 7:55 p.m. Sunday, a car driven by Joe Erwin, 25, of Richwood struck the rear of a car driven by George Crue, 25, of Mount Clemens, Mich. Both were headed north.

Extensive damage was done to the front of Erwin's car, while minor damage was done to the rear of Crue's car. Patrolmen said Crue stopped for slow moving traffic and Erwin failed to stop.

Erwin was arrested and charged with failure to stop within the assured clear distance.

Two Injured in City

Two persons were slightly injured in eight city traffic accidents, one of them involving damage under $100, over the weekend, city police reported today.

Injured in the mishap Saturday at 10:38 p.m. in front of 620 Davids St. were Gertrude Edler of near Morral and Robert Taylor, 17, of the Barks Rd.

Miss Edler suffered a busted lip and Taylor a bump on his nose. They were taken to City Hospital in a police cruiser for treatment.

Taylor, driver of the car in which Miss Edler was a passenger, was headed north on Davids St. when his automobile struck a parked car owned by Dale C. Hudson of 620 Davids St.

There was considerable damage to both vehicles, the Taylor car damaged in the rear and front end fenders and the Hudson car in the left rear fender and trunk.

Four cars were involved in an accident on Delaware Ave just south of Washington Ave. Sunday at 6 p.m.

Drivers of the cars were Aaron Orr Gerwing, 31, of Columbus, Howard Ernest Smith, 57, of 806 Merkel Ave., Elinor J. Thiel, 22, of 319 S. Main St., and Stanton S. Gongwer, 35, of Delaware.

All the vehicles were headed south on Delaware Ave., with the Gongwer vehicle running into the rear of the Thiel car and pushing it into the other two cars stopped in the traffic lane.

The cars were slightly damaged.

Another Sunday accident took place at 8:22 p.m. at N. Main and George Sts.

Involved in the three-car accident were cars driven by Donald W. Johnson, 18, of near Carey, Jerry Lee Enders, 26, of Adrian, O., and James H. Nichols, 19, of near Galion.

All headed north on Main St., the police report shows that the Nichols car ran into the rear of the Enders car stopped in the traffic lane and shoved the Enders car into the Johnson vehicle.

All three cars were slightly damaged.

A car was heavily damaged in an accident Saturday at 3:57 p.m. at 1009 E. Center St.

Cars figuring in the mishap were driven by Stanley Collins, 75, of 1009 E. Center St. and Luella A. Bacon of 194 Lake St.

The Bacon car struck the Collins car, which had come out of a parking position, in the left front fender, police reports showed. There was heavy damage to the Collins car. The right side of the Bacon car was slightly damaged.

Two cars figured in an accident Saturday at 11:55 a.m. at Main and George Sts.

Police reports show a car driven by William E. Owens, 33, of Mansfield ran into the rear of a car slowing down for a traffic light driven by Madge R. Taylor of Irvin O. Both cars were headed north on N. Main St.

There was damage to the trunk and right rear fender of the Taylor vehicle.

A truck and car were both damaged in a mishap in front of 577 E. Center St. at 1:35 a.m. Sunday.

A truck, headed east on E. Center St. and driven by Rolland LeRoy Ashworth, 36, of 753 N. State St., struck a parked car in front of 577 E. Center St. owned by Eskil R. England of that address.

Ashworth, arrested on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants following the mishap, was fined $100 and costs, given a three years' suspension of his driving rights and sentenced to five days in the county jail this morning in Municipal Court.

U.S. Different, Wonderful, Girl Finds

Finnish Student Enjoys Informality; Amazed At TV and Cars

To a Finnish farm girl, America is a land of informal people, many machines, deep freezes, dangerous automobiles and excessive radio and TV commercials.

But it's a wonderful place, says Marjatta Lyytikainen of Varkaus, Finland, a student in the International Farm Youth Exchange. Marjatta is spending three weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mautz, Route 7 as part of her six-month tour of the U.S.

YOU HAVE TOO MUCH TV and radio advertising," Marjatta said. We have no advertising on our government-controlled radio in Finland."

Marjatta, who arrived in the U. S. in May and started her tour in Washington, D. C., was a surprised at the many machines she saw, especially cars.

"Cars are very dangerous," she said. "But not so much in the cities where there are traffic lights."

Other surprises to the 22-year-old Helsinki University student deep freezes and refrigerators. In Finland, she said ice houses are still used.

Marjatta was pleased with the natural, informal nature of the American people.

"You people are not formal and stiff like we are at home," she said. "I like it very much."

BOOKS AND MOVIES were the only way Marjatta had of picturing America before. One of six Finnish students in the U. S. this summer, she believes youth exchanges will help bring the two countries closer together.

"I am thrilled to see America here," she said. "I think we will better understand each other by visiting each other."

Marjatta, whose home is about 200 miles from Helsinki University, is studying home economics, chemistry, nutrition and microbiology. She chided her hostess, Rosemary Mautz, an Ohio State University junior, about the difference in length of schooling between the countries. Marjatta's course will take six years instead of four as is customary here.

Movies don't quite capture the real American, Marjatta said.

"Movies are movies in any country," she said. "We see much sweet love and cowboys in American films."

Marjatta lives in a town of 1,500 people and her home farm has 1,210 acres, 94 in cultivation. She has participated in 4-H Club work, the women's agriculture group and the Martta Society. A Lutheran, she can speak Swedish, German and English in addition to her native tongue.

"I don't know my own voice when I speak English," Marjatta said. "I have other voice."

Marjatta will leave the Mautz farm Aug. 23 and stop in Kansas on her way to California. She will return to Washington and New York City in November and visit Quebec before returning home.

Hoover

and son of Jesse Clark Hoover and Hulda Minthorn Hoover, in 1874.

There'll be a parade and speeches by Gov. William S. Beardsley; Dr. Virgil M. Hancher, president of the University of Iowa, and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who will fly out from Washington to represent President Eisenhower.

Cottage Restored

The state's birthday presents will include an honorary degree of doctor of laws from the university and a book of cartoons, "As Ding Saw Hoover," published by Iowa State College in collaboration with newspaper cartoonist J. N. (Ding) Darling.

But for Hoover, the highlight of the day may well be his visit to his birthplace.

The humble cottage, restored, now looks much as it did when the Hoover family lived there. It has white curtains of a pattern and material similar to the ones Hoover's mother used. The rag rug on the floor is of the same pattern as one his grandmother made.

The high chair Hoover used as a baby sits beside the dining table and in the bedroom is a bureau his uncle made. The cupboard — another family piece — holds a deep glass dish with a maple leaf pattern which was owned by Hoover's mother.

Also on display are some blacksmith tools, found when the house was restored, which might well have belonged to his father.

Fire Run, Inhalator Call Are Reported

Damage of $10 was done to a pile of clothes which were left on the stove Sunday afternoon, Marion firemen reporte today.

Men from the Central and W. Center St. stations were called to the home of Mrs. Pearl Wachner of 124 Scoto St. at 4:55 p.m. Mrs. Wachner told the men she had left a bundle of clothes on the stove. They had dried out and caught fire from the heat of the stove.

An inhalator call at 2:17 a.m. Sunday was made by Sam Green of 907 N. State St. His mother, Mrs. Leonard Green, 41, of near Marion had suffered a nervous collapse. Firemen worked with the machine on the woman for one and one-half hours. They reported their efforts were successful.

A false alarm was turned in by a passerby who thought he saw smoke coming from a house on N. Grand Ave. at 7:17 this morning. Men from the Central Station answered the call, but found no fire.

form aggression, and was another step by Yugoslavia to closer collaboration with the West since its feud started with Moscow in 1948.

In pooling armed forces of the three nations that may total more than one million men, the alliance bolsters one of the soft spots in Western Europe's defenses.

Turkey has a standing army of 450,000 and Greece has more than 125,000 men under arms. There are no official figures on the size of Tito's army, but it has been estimated Tito has some 600,000 men under arms.

Born Feb. 8, 1886, near Greenville, O., he was a son of Solomon Kissell and Rosetta Thomas Kissell, both natives of Ohio. He was married July 6, 1910, in Covington, O., to Maude M. Wise, who survives. It was immediately after their marriage that Dr. and Mrs. Kissell came to Marion to reside.

Surviving besides his widow are a son and a daughter, Richard C. Kissell of 555 Universal Ave., and Mrs. Frederick G. Smith of 376 Durfee Dr., two grandchildren, one great grandchild, two brothers, Noah Kissell of Greenville, O., Roy Kissell of Dayton, and a sister, Mrs. Ruby Dickey of Greenville.

The body is at the Schaffner-Denzer Funeral Home on E. Center St. and funeral arrangements are incomplete. The family is awaiting word from the daughter, Mrs. Smith, who with her husband, Dr. Frederick G. Smith, left Marion about 6:30 this morning on a motor trip to the west coast.

More Than 200 Jailed In Underworld Roundup

NEW YORK (AP) — Police squads swept through Times Square, Central Park and Rockaway Beach during the early morning hours yesterday in a continuing crackdown against hoodlums and undesirables.

The weekend raids were reported to have pulled in more than 200 persons, the largest haul since the drive began July 27.

Employe Fires At Park Crowd

Goes Berserk When Girl Thwarts Advances

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police said today a charge of shooting to kill will be filed against a playground caretaker who Saturday night sprayed 14 bullets into a crowd of more than 100 persons, many of them boys and girls.

Only one lad, Daniel Smith, 9, was hit and his hip wound was not serious.

Police said the caretaker, George Ridley, 24, went berserk when his attempts to molest a 13-year-old girl were thwarted. The girl turned back his advances and he slapped her, police said.

Then the Rev. Junior Halburton Dawson, 29, Church of God minister, stepped in. After grappling with the preacher, Ridley dashed into the playground shelterhouse for a rifle.

He emptied the rifle of its seven bullets and reloaded, spraying another seven toward the crowd, police were told.

While the bullets touched only one person, others were injured as they scurried to get out of the rifle's range.

Dionne

Oliva Dionne Emilie's father, said last night the public would be admitted to the service after the family and close friends were seated. The church accommodates only a few hundred persons.

Because the Corbeil parish has no official gravedigger, each family must prepare its interment spot. Aime Marasse, a graying uncle of the quints, prepared the last resting place for the shy and gentle girl who died last Friday at a Roman Catholic hostel in Ste. Agathe, Que., following an epileptic stroke.

Meanwhile, U.S. experts on the neurological disorder reacted sharply to a Quebec medico-legal expert's report that an autopsy showed her death was caused by epileptic seizures brought on by "glandular disorders" creating lung congestion.

Fearful of the effect of the announcement of the estimated 1½ million epileptics in the United States, Dr. R. Houston Merritt, director of the Neurological Institute at Columbia University's Presbyterian Medical Center, told a news conference in New York that the mortality rate among epileptics is no greater than among non-sufferers. Epileptics, he said, usually die of natural causes, from falls during seizures or suffocation from burying their faces in pillows during or after an attack.

'Report Should Be Made'

Speaking with Dr. Merritt for the Epilepsy Association of New York and the Variety Club Foundation to combat Epilepsy, Dr. William Amols of the Neurological Institute said a "complete and accurate" report of the autopsy should be made available to medical journals as well as in laymen's language for the benefit of other epileptics.

In its open gray metal casket, Emilie's body lay yesterday in the living room of the Dionne home halfway along the five-mile road between Callander and Corbeil. An estimated 5,000 persons filed past it. For the first time since public viewing of the five girls was stopped 14 years ago, the big iron gates protecting the home were opened to the public.

Flowers surrounded the casket. Emilie's dress was of crepe, in her favorite light blue, with white trimming. Her hands clasped a white rosary.

The surviving quintuplets — Yvonne, Annette, Cecile and Marie — were not present. They met their sister's body when it arrived by funeral coach from Montreal Saturday night, then sat beside it until 2 a.m. Sunday. Shortly after dawn, they arose and resumed their tearful vigil, but when the visitors were admitted to the fenced-in Dionne property, the four black-clad girls went to an upstairs bedroom.

Their 51-year-old father, stood beside the casket. His wife, calm despite her grief, sat with two other women beside the doors and greeted many women callers personally.

Many Messages

Among the callers was Papa Dionne's sister, the Rev. Sister Ange Du Bon-Secours who left a cloistered convent at Hull, Que., for the first time in 22 years to view Emilie's body.

Messages of sympathy poured into the Dionne home. Wires came from Premier Leslie M. Frost of Ontario, Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal and from Dr. W. A. Dafoe of Toronto, brother of the late Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, who first attended the quintuplets.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

A car stolen from the Drumm Nash Used car lot at 329 W. Center St. Sunday by an unidentified youth who eluded city police after an hour long chase was recovered in Columbus today. Police Chief Tom Coon said. Officers in a cruiser driving west on Center St. noticed the car coming out of the used car lot early Sunday morning and immediately gave chase but lost the car near Essex in Union County.

Pleads for Help

Rhee Says South Korea 'Crying' for A-Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Syngman Rhee says South Korea is "crying" for atomic weapons from the United States to help it drive the Communists from the northern half of Korea.

In a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report published today, Rhee also declared that Britain and France are not anti-Communist nations, and that the United States is restraining him and Chiang Kai-shek from fighting the Chinese Reds by withholding support.

Needs Help

Reiterating that South Korea can drive the Communists from the northern half of the peninsula, Rhee said, however, that he is asking the United States "to give us naval support and air coverage" as well as assistance in doubling the 650,000-man South Korean army.

During the interview granted during the 79-year-old South Korean patriot's recent visit to Washington, this exchange occurred:

Q. "Would the atomic bombs be useful in such a war against the Reds in North Korea?"

Rhee: "I told your people 'You'll never dare use the atomic bombs if you have them piled up like a mountain.'"

Q. "Why?"

Rhee: "They are afraid."

Q. "Could you use them in your army?"

Rhee: "We are crying for it."

Q. "You mean for artillery?"

Rhee: "If we had bombs they would be useful."

Elaborating on his assertion that Britain and France are not anti-Communist nations, Rhee said:

"I think they are afraid of the Soviet and, also, a sufficient number of British subjects have already joined communism. These people like Winston Churchill must get the votes to stand against communism. If they don't, there won't be anytime more."

"So many French people are already on the Communist side (Gen. Charles) De Gaulle alone was considered really Anti-Communist."

Find Gas Locked Up

Rhee said, without giving dates, that South Korea had planned to move against the Communists in the north since the armistice was signed a little more than a year ago, "but when we were ready to move up, we found our gasoline drums were all locked up."

Asked who had done that, Rhee replied: "Those who have the right to control that. The United Nations, the Americans, but whoever it is, they began to issue the ammunition to three days' use each time."

Rhee said Chiang's Nationalists on Formosa "are waiting to go over on the mainland and start some fighting — but the United States does not allow that."

His own government, Rhee continued, wants to resume fighting with the Communists in the north, but American officials "say we're in a 'peace'" and he added:

"So, whenever the Communists, our enemies, want to come in and take over, we have to let them do it. That's the idea."

He said he thinks President Eisenhower "is trying all he can to solve this problem but American officers think that we should not resume the fighting now because this would precipitate World War III..."

Traffic Cases in Court

A total of 19 motorists forfeited bonds or were fined in Municipal Court action Saturday. Three drivers forfeited $35 bonds when they failed to appear as scheduled. Those motorists and the charge which they were to have answered follows.

Paul D. Owens, 20, of Royal Oak, Mich., speeding; Charles E. Hunley, 20, of Dearborn, Mich., speeding; and Terrence Fairchild, 21, of near Sunbury, speeding.

Other motorists charged with speeding were fined $15 and costs each. Those drivers follow:

Richard E. Roseen, 2, of Lansing, Ill.; Randall Giessler, 20, of Van Wert; John J. Vogel 43, of Franklin Park, Ill.; Alva Abrams, 33, of 356 Waterloo St.; Wilbur C. Brewer, 38, of Upper Sandusky; and Leonard Curren, 63, of Waldo.

Other motorists fined, the charge, and amount of fine follow:

David A. Beason, 19, of Morral, stop sign violation, $15 and costs; Delta E. Riley of Toledo, crossing a yellow line, $15 and costs; Thomas E. Sonnastine, 34, of near Marion, failure to have assured clear distance, $25 and costs; Marvin P. Lovell, 33, of 410 Reed Ave., left of center, $15 and costs; Herbert R. Jackson, 22, of near Waldo, fictitious license, $15 and costs; Algie C. Kelley of Garden City, Mich., passing in a no-passing zone, $15 and costs; Richard J. Thomas, 39, of near Marion, left of center, $25 and costs; Eugene Burris, 38, of 286 S. Vine St., reckless operation, $15 and costs; Carl E. Jackson, 34, of near Ostrander, failure to obey a railroad signal, $15 and costs; and Carroll L. Monnasmith, 18, of near Richwood, no muffler, $15 and costs.

District Traffic Cases

A driver was arrested and fined after being involved in an accident on Union St. in Mount Gilead Sunday evening, state patrolmen from the Marion post reported today.

William Stanley, 22, of Vandalia was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Emery Murphy of Mount Gilead on a charge of failure to stop within the assured clear distance.

According to patrol reports, a car driven by Ian Mackenzie, 27, of Louisville, Ky. stopped for traffic, when Stanley's car struck him in the rear. Extensive damage was done to both vehicles.

Seven other motorists were arrested and fined for traffic violations on highways outside Marion County. Four of those were taken before Mayor Murphy. Those drivers, the charge, and amount of fine follow:

Jack Moore, 26, of Talmadge O., crossing a yellow line, $10 and costs; Jarrid Hocking 28, of Harrisonna, crossing a yellow line, $10 and costs; James Miller, 47, of Euclid, speeding, $20 and costs, and Maurice Doolan, 33, of Springdale, crossing a yellow line, $10 and costs.

Taken before Mayor Harold Koehler of Upper Sandusky were Donald Bishop, 23, of Rainelle, W. Va. and Arthur Badger, 28, of Royal Oak, Mich. Both were fined $10 and costs for speeding.

Ryamond Williams, 31, of Oak Ridge, Tenn. was fined $20 and costs by Mayor Don Healea of Cardington for crossing a yellow line.

vocating. A final vote may be delayed until tomorrow.

Scheduled for Senate consideration next are bills to finance the foreign aid program for the current year, to expand the social security system and increase benefits, and to raise temporarily the legal debt limit from 275 billion dollars to 281 billions. All three of these have passed the House but conferences will be needed to iron out differences.

What action will be taken on President Eisenhower's antisubversive program is in doubt. A bill has been passed by both branches to provide for granting immunity from federal prosecution to some witnesses claiming the Fifth Amendment guarantee against self-incrimination, but the two measures vary considerably. The Senate may act also on a House-approved bill to provide the death penalty for peacetime spying.

The House scheduled action today on the Atomic Energy Bill and on a measure, opposed by the administration, to raise post office workers' pay by 7 per cent. When it gets to the Senate, the pay bill may be broadened to include other government civil service workers.

As for atomic energy, a Senate vote to reject the compromise bill would confront the House with a decision on whether to send the bill back to conference again. If it did not agree to do so, the legislation would die.

Before the Roman Colosseum was built, the site was an artificial lake on the estate of the Emperor Nero.

Phenix City

Patterson's murder last June 18 touched off an explosion of outrage that the gamblers and vice lords didn't anticipate. Thus Patterson, who was gunned down in an alley a few days after receiving the Democratic nomination for attorney general, may yet accomplish in death what he had sworn to do had he lived to take office.

The Phenix City attorney pledged in his campaign to clean up the notorious community.

There is no telling how long the jury may be in session. State investigators have dug up masses of evidence suggesting payoffs and neglect of duty by public officials as well as plentiful indications of wrongdoings by known vice kings.

However, it is the opinion of some court sources that the grand jury will make a partial report within the next 10 days and return indictments against many caught redhanded in the crackdown.

Early indictments may also be brought soon in the murder case. That theory was given a boost last week when acting Atty. Gen. Bernard Dykes announced that "I won't say we're looking for any more suspects."

Andy Sykes had previously emphasized it was "suspects, plural, and always has been."

AWOL AIRMAN NABBED

An 18-year-old Marion Air Force member was arrested by city police this morning. He is being detained at city jail until military authorities can be notified. He was stationed at Frances E. Warren Air Force Base in Cheyenne, Wyo.

War Prisoner Exchange To Be Postponed

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French command announced today that the second exchange of war prisoners with the Communist-led Vietminh has been postponed.

A spokesman gave no reason for the postponement. The exchange had been planned to start tomorrow. There was no word when it might get under way.

The spokesman said the 18-man advance party of the International Commission to supervise the Indochina armistice is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow. The commission is made up of representatives of India, Canada and Poland.

Under terms of the Geneva agreement, all POWs are supposed to be repatriated within 30 days after the cease-fire. The truce becomes effective Wednesday in South Viet Nam, the last section of the country affected.

Gen. Rene Cogny, the French commander in North Viet Nam, said last week that 15,000 POWs would be a "good round figure" for each side.

Meanwhile, a propaganda war aimed at winning the election which two years before is scheduled to decide who will rule united Viet Nam is being waged on both sides of the dividing line.

On the North is the Communist-led Vietminh under Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh. In the South is the force of Catholic Premier Ngo Dinh Diem. Both leaders want nationalist West total independence for Viet Nam, biggest of the three Indochina states.

around Auburn Corners in Geauga County. There would be an interchange at U. S. 422.

It would cross U. S. 322 below Chardon where there would be an interchange, and run to just south of Painesville where there would be another interchange. From there the turnpike roughly parallels U. S. 20 with interchanges near Harpersfield on Ohio 534 in Ashtabula County, at Ohio 45 several miles north of Jefferson, also in Ashtabula County, and at the southern limit of Conneaut on Ohio 7.

The Toledo leg would set off from the Cincinnati-to-Cleveland superhighway about 10 - 15 miles northwest of Columbus.

It would parallel U. S. 33 to within a few miles of Marysville in Union County where there would be an interchange at U. S. 36. Then it shoots up to within a few miles east of Kenton in Hardin County, with an interchange at U. S. 30-S. From there the branch angles almost directly north, with the next interchange at U. S. 224 just east of Findlay. The next interchange would be at U. S. 6 just east of Bowling Green, meeting a Northern Ohio Turnpike interchange east of Toledo.

The proposed turnpike would follow the Northern Ohio Turnpike route west for about 10 miles to Maumee in Lucas County. It would leave the Northern Ohio turnpike and head for the Michigan border, ending near Sylvania. There would be another interchange a few miles south of the Michigan border.

McCarthy

called an "unwarranted attack" on Gen. George C. Marshall in a June 14, 1951 Senate speech.

"I abhor it and I would not have done it," Ellender said. "I have always had a great respect for Gen. Marshall. But McCarthy was exercising a constitutional privilege to criticize a former official of our government. It is no worse than things that have been said in the Senate about Presidents and others in the past."

One committee member said the group is partially interested in a charge that McCarthy incited government employes to disregard their oath in furnishing him with security information. Ellender said McCarthy may have "overstepped the bounds" in that instance and Sen. George (D-Ga.) called it "one of the big issues" in the inquiry.

Members of the censure study committee generally agreed that the length of hearings they hold may be influenced by McCarthy's attitude toward the investigation.

Barber signed the arrest warrant against Sheppard, whose 31-year-old wife was killed July 4.

Barber has been acting in the absence of Bay Village Mayor J. Spencer Houk, friend of the osteopath and an expected material witness in the case.

The bed on which Mrs. Sheppard was slain and the couch on which her husband said he was sleeping downstairs were removed from the Sheppard home today and taken to the county morgue.

Police said the furniture will be held as "evidence" against Dr. Sheppard.

Hoover at 80

By George Sokolsky

To know Herbert Hoover, who celebrates his 80th birthday on Aug. 10, at West Branch, Ia., to be able to call him friend, is a cherished experience.

SOKOLSKY

In many respects he is the biggest man I have ever encountered, and that is not because he was once president of the United States. All sorts of men have been president of this country and there are some who should not have been. To achieve high position is not always an indication of ability or character; sometimes it is the result of a series of fortunate accidents.

The bigness of Herbert Hoover is in his soul, in the gentleness of his nature; in his huge capacity to accept the barbs of antagonism without vindictiveness. I once brought a man to Mr. Hoover's apartment who had been very close to Franklin D. Roosevelt and who had attacked Mr. Hoover vehemently. Mr. Hoover welcomed him, discussed important questions, asked for enlightenment on some of their differences.

THEY ARE NOW such warm friends that neither remembers that I had to assure the visitor that nothing unfortunate would occur and that I had told him that the Quaker in Hoover makes it impossible for him to remember personal enmities.

Harry Truman once delivered a speech, I think it was in Boston, attacking Hoover with some characteristic violence. Hoover was then on good terms with Truman, visited him at the White House, and held appointment under him. I asked him whether he was going to quit Truman. "No," he said, "if a job is worth doing, it ought not to be deserted on account of campaign oratory."

On another occasion, one of President Roosevelt's sons was calling on Wendell Willkie in Colorado Springs when Mr. Hoover was at the Willkie headquarters. Willkie asked Hoover if he objected to lunching with the young man. Hoover said that he did object. He told Willkie: "You have one son and I have two. Neither of us would like our sons to be in the camp of the enemy. Tell that young man to go back to his father and to be faithful to him."

AT THAT TIME, Mr. Roosevelt was Herbert Hoover's enemy and was making life unpleasant for him. Probably, what Roosevelt and others could never understand was that the little pinpricks which might hurt the pride of another man passed Mr. Hoover by as a small cloud might slightly darken a summer sky.

Perhaps Mr. Hoover has lived so long and has remained so young because of his optimism which is based not on great faith in the works of man but in an abiding faith in the mercy of God. Those who were brought up in any religious discipline will understand what this means; others never can.

At 80, Herbert Hoover is engaged in a task which has intrigued him ever since he became a public official at the end of World War I, namely, the organization of the executive branch of the government.

Except as provided for in the simple outline in the Constitution, the government of the United States has never been organized. It just grew, layer upon layer, duplication upon duplication, until it is a sprawling mass of departments, bureaus and offices.

FIRST IN the Truman administration and now in the Eisenhower administration, Herbert Hoover is devoting himself to an analysis of what exists, to overcoming the opposition of vested interests to change, and to establishing through congressional action, an orderly, systematic, non-duplicative scheme of operations. For such work his vast experience as an engineer, business man, cabinet officer and president particularly fits him.

His great joy in this work is only equalled by the selfishness he discovers in those who would sacrifice the country to some little private benefit. But he works away at these picayune people and interests like a beaver cutting down a sapling.

Last year, when he was approaching his 79th birthday, he invited me to the Bohemian Grove in California because he said it would be my last chance to be there with him. He would die that year. Due to an illness in my family, I could not go. I recently asked him about his forebodings of death last year.

"This year, I have no time for that," he answered.

And so we all join the State of Iowa in celebrating the 80th birthday of a busy, an active and a wise American.

Friends and Foes

By Victor Riesel

BERLIN

The cloak-and-dagger operatives, the Soviet double agents and their hypnotic serums, the counter-intelligence officers frenzied by the loss of vital undercover cells in the Russian sector and zone, all seemed far from the ancient, high-ceilinged office of Berlin's chief of state, Mayor-Governor Walter Schreiber, as I asked him what I could tell the American people back home for him.

RIESEL

"Tell the Americans to put Berlin on their itinerary and come and see how we live here 100 miles inside the Russian world," the Lord-Mayor said. "Tell them they can fly here in less than a full day. Tell them we need not only their tourist dollars, but for our people to see them and for the people in the Russian sector to see them as our friends."

Lord-Mayor Schreiber's problem is bread and butter for his people — especially for the 191,000 unemployed out of about one million West Berlin workers. If world capitalism doesn't help put them back to work — world communism will be able to make an example out of our supposed democratic showcase here where the Communists can observe our system working virtually under glass.

YET NOBODY in our capitalist world seems to care about the 191,000 jobless in Berlin. It's almost incomprehensible to see the U.S., for example, punish our friends and help our critics.

If some millions of dollars worth of orders were placed by American firms and our government at the Berlin Industries Fair next Sept. 25, we could help save this outpost. Such orders easily could come from our government — but no. We are spending hundreds of millions on military orders in British, French and Italian plants manned by commies or neutralists who dislike us — but only a few paltry dollars here among people who would die for us, and are, in some cases.

This is no argument for the cancellation of our orders in England, France and Italy. This is an argument for West Berlin's sharing of more of these orders.

We are helping Britain's aircraft industry export scores of millions of dollars worth of flying equipment. British factories, manned by working men, whose unions and political party now are falling for the new Russian lullaby, are making 140 million dollars worth of Hunter planes, for example. It's our 140 million which is paying for these planes and parts. It's our money which is building up and maintaining sections of the British machine tool industry.

I have the word of at least one highly placed British machine tool expert that it is the English machine tool industry's hope that it can get Sovietized China to depend on Britain for its equipment.

THERE ARE MANY millions of dollars worth of American orders being produced in French automotive aircraft and machine plants — which are manned by Communist unionists.

Permit me to report first hand that some of our most strategic material is being handled by Communists, including their toughest industrial undercover operatives. Nowhere on the continent can you find public opinion as anti-American as you do in France.

We have almost half a billion dollars in military orders in Italy. There at least, we are demanding that some plants use workers belonging to the pro-U.S. labor unions in a federation called the C.I.S.L. which the AFL helped to build with money and advice.

There still are millions of dollars worth of U.S. military orders being produced right now in Communist-run Italian factories.

Yet, as will be shown at the Berlin Fair this fall, factories right in West Berlin can make caterpillar tracks for our military vehicles and tanks, lenses for submarines, radar equipment, airplane parts, machine gun sections, signal equipment, electrical gimmicks and other materiel we can use and are getting from our critics.

TO ADD INSULT to injury, we stack the cards against these people here in Berlin. Our requests for bids come in late and the manufacturers here can't make them in time. The American War Board buys on the basis of the lowest bidders and the orders go to plants elsewhere with wage standards lower than here. This practice will some day hit us between the eyes, for we are building up low wage competition.

So, if I gather correctly Lord-Mayor Schreiber's sentiments and those of the regional labor leaders —who are special targets of the commies — and the hopes of the businessmen who could leave Berlin and live comfortably out of the line of fire, it would be good to see a joint delegation of U.S. labor leaders and industrialists fly to the September Fair in some chartered U.S. airline planes.

They could help Berlin make jobs and many things — especially a better life for this democratic world under glass 100 miles inside the Russian empire.

There is no place in the world where the earth has been tortured into stranger beauty than "The Badlands" of South Dakota.

HAL BOYLE

"Hell with the fires out!" exclaimed Gen. Alfred Sully on seeing them in 1864. Later visitors have compared them to the waterless landscape of the moon — or the the portrait of a hangover in technicolor.

Millions of tourists each year are awestruck by the weirdly eroded scenery—the lonely colorful battlements and writhing 2,000-foot-high towering shapes carved by wind and ancient rivers over millions of years.

"BUT MOST OF THEM see the Badlands only from their automobiles," said my friend Earl Brockelsby, owner of "The Reptile Gardens," one of the world's greatest snake collections.

"Why don't you let me take you on a tour through them? We'll go where the foot of man never has trod before."

Like a fool I agreed, and then didn't have the force of character to back out. Too bright and too early next morning our safari set out through this arid wilderness.

The party included, besides my host and his victim, two young lady students of paleontology and Warren Morell, editor of the Rapid City Daily Journal.

Before we even reached the picnic site - hobbling from three cactus spikes that had pierced my loafers—I knew I had blundered.

The picnic site was a blinding white cradle in a canyon. No shade. Temperature in the sun—probably 110.

Brockelsby cooked the hot dogs five at a time on a hook he used to catch rattlesnakes. When I tried to bite my sandwich, it seemed to me the hot dog tried to rear up and bite back.

"Well, let's go back," I said when the lunch was over.

"Go back?" said Earl. "Why, we haven't started yet."

HOW TRUE. How true. For hours we climbed terrifying crags or dried silt, slid down embankments, crawled through poison ivy beds on hands and knees, inched through canyons too narrow for a gazelle with a new Dior bustline.

"Isn't that breathtaking?" said Earl, pausing at one vista.

"Sure . . . is," I panted. "Particularly . . . that big . . . butte . . . that looks like . . . a . . . red . . . castle."

"It isn't red," objected Earl. Maybe not through his eyeballs—but it was through mine.

Twice Earl stopped and handed me fossil teeth from an oreodon, a sheep-like animal that roamed the area maybe 20 million years ago. I put them in my pocket. Three times I slipped and fell and felt the teeth sinking into me.

Imagine being attacked by a 20-million-year-old fossil sheep. How silly can you get?

"Sabre-toothed tigers used to live here," said Earl. "And there still are a few wildcats around."

Right then and there I decided I had done enough pioneering for a guy who likes nothing better than exploring the bottom of a swivel chair.

"Let's go back," I said. "But first show me this place where the foot of man has never trod."

"Right where you're standing," said Earl.

I sent down and traced the outline of my aching feet with a pencil. Then, so that future Marco Polos wouldn't have to wonder what strange old fossil had left this mark of his passing, I signed my name.

As I straightened up and we started the long climb to our car, I noticed something scribbled on the canyon wall. You know what it said?

"Kilroy was here."

You can't win.

Mother Beaten To Death by Mental Patient

DETROIT (AP)—A 33-year-old man who told police he beat and kicked his mother to death last night "because she was possessed of the Devil" was held as a police prisoner today in a hospital mental ward.

Glenn Green told Detective David Harris that he assaulted his mother, Mrs. Alice Green, 70, of Vicco, Ky., as she lay in bed "because she was possessed of the Devil and the Bible says the only thing to do is to beat the Devil out of them."

Mrs. Green was visiting her son, his wife and two children.

She died shortly after admittance to Receiving Hospital with a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Green's wife Ollie Louis, 21, told police her husband pulled his mother from her bed, beat her, threw her to the floor and stamped on her.

Mrs. Green said her husband first showed signs of a mental strain while training with the Army reserves at Ft. Eustis, Va., last June. He is a veteran of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

She died shortly after admittance to Valley Forge (Pa.) General Hospital, where doctors said he was a violent mental case. She said she had checked him out of the hospital against the Army's wishes.

As Green was being locked up, he asked police, "Is my mother dead?" When told she wasn't, (police had not yet learned of Mrs. Green's death) he remarked:

"That is too bad, because if she lives the Devil will leave her and get into me."

Pen, Alcohol Set Off Tragic Chain of Events

DANVILLE, Va. (AP) — A pen that wouldn't write set off a bizarre chain of circumstances here yesterday that led to a shooting spree, a police chase and the death by drowning of an Air Force private.

Police said Pfc. Melvin L. Gerbitz and Pvt. Augustine Smith, both of Ft. Bragg, N.C., were in a local restaurant when one of the two — it hadn't been determined which one — became angry because his fountain pen wouldn't write.

He handed the pen to his companion, told him to hold it at arm's length, pulled out a pistol and shot the pen to bits.

The restaurant owner called police. The airmen hopped in a car and sped away. Police gave chase.

At a bridge across the Dan River near town, the airmen's car smashed into an embankment. The two crawled out of the car and tried to swim the river.

Gerbitz didn't remove his uniform. He drowned a third of the way across.

Smith stripped his clothes off and reached the other side, was picked up by a passing car and taken to a gas station. There police arrested him and jailed him on charges of felonious shooting and driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Conservation, leadership and recreational activities will make up the program at the camp. About 1,100 FFA members will attend the camp, which is divided into four periods, starting July 25 and ending August 14.

LAD JOINS BLIRUT RIOT. A youngster brandishes a stick and shouts defiance at a photographer as his elders carry banner with inscriptions from the Koran during riot in Beirut Lebanon The demonstration followed publication of a pamphlet allegedly insulting the prophet Mohammed Army forces finally were called out to help police quell the riots

Learn in Mock Prison Camp

Airmen Taught Ways of Red Captors

KORLA (NANA) — The Fifth Air Force maintains a prison camp here into which it mercilessly throws personnel who have committed no crimes

The airmen are fed native food hounded day and night by questioners and made generally miserable

The camp actually is a miniature Communist prison camp called the Escape and Evasion School Pilots, bombardiers navigators and gunners are imprisoned in it for a week to teach them how to cope with communist prison camps if they are shot down in the future

THE "MLANE' running the camp is Australian - born Capt K D Young The captain served in the U S Army from 1924 to 1946 was captured by the Germans and escaped in France

Much of what the airmen go through in Capt Young's school must be kept secret—not from a potential enemy but from future classes who can only benefit from the course if it comes as a surprise to them

The men are taught the mental and physical tortures of Communist POW camps Some of them meals consist of native foods which are unpalatable to Americans

Series of questions are asked to determine the students reaction It is pointed out to them how answers to simple innocuous questions may weave a web from which the prisoner cannot escape He also is shown how his answers could give information and comfort to the enemy

The men are taught how to get along with each other how to organize themselves to be aware of how the prison commandant may try to split them into conflicting groups to be on the lookout for spies who may be planted among them

TO CAPTAIN YOUNG Escape and Evasion is a holy grail and he goes about his duties with the zeal of a missionary

"No one is expendable in the American scheme of things All sorts of safety devices are put on airplanes—radios ejection seats exposure suits—all gadgets to help the pilot save himself if his airplane is shot up I continue these safety factors on the ground I help the men get back once they are on the ground

"We teach them how to survive and how to make the best of their difficulties What airmen learn our school teaches them not to be surprised when they have to eat rice instead of steak They are mentally conditioning themselves

How people will act as POWs depends on their basic character Some guys just break down completely

Captain Young has his own notion as to what an airman's oath should contain Escape is an airman's duty is his motto To that end he teaches the men not only first aid and how to survive but how to scavenge for food how to move at night guided by the stars and the moon

For an American escape is most difficult in Asia because the airman or soldier is so easily distinguishable from the native population But Captain Young thinks, nevertheless that a shot-down pilot should be able to outwit his adversaries

He puts the men on an island and gives them a set of clues If they follow his instructions to the letter they will reach the coast and there will find a boat to pick them up and take them to "freedom" It seems navigators accustomed to keys navigational instruments, are the most prone to get lost

Captain Young has the dramatic flair of a William Holden and "Stalag 17" is his ideal

Indians Move to Detroit With Lead of Four Games

Tribe Takes Pair From A's As Tigers Defeat Yankees

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Indians finally shook the tenacious Yankees and rolled four games ahead of the New Yorkers in the windup of a profitable 14-game home stand.

While the Yanks took their second straight drubbing in Detroit yesterday, the Indians ticked off their third and fourth triumph in a four-game series against the Philadelphia Athletics.

That shoved the Bronxites, who were only a game and a half behind when they left Cleveland Thursday night, to where they were in the American League pennant race a month ago, just before the Indians went to Chicago. There they lost a humiliating four-game series and had their lead sliced to half a game.

After the mid-season break for the All-Star Game July 13, the Tribe came home and racked up 13 victories, losing only one to the Red Sox and two out of three to the New Yorkers.

Tomorrow the Indians play in Detroit, where the Yanks started the weekend with a 4-3, victory, and then lost 3-1 and 10-8.

In the Indians' doubleheader yesterday, Art Houtteman pitched a six-hit 5-2 triumph, after Bob Lemon, allowing seven hits, got the Tribe a 7-2 win.

It was Lemon's 15th victory and sixth in a row, and he helped it by smacking a two-run homer in the fourth that gave the Tribe a 3-2 lead.

The righthander, enjoying his best season percentage-wise, with a .750 pitching average for his 15-5 record, explains his fortune this way:

"I've had some good luck this season. At the beginning of the season I was knocked out of the box in some games that we finally won—and then the team has scored runs for me, too. It's like Bob Feller says: 'It's not how you pitch, but when you pitch.'"

Lemon's homer came with Jim Hegan aboard via a single.

In the third, Lemon led off with a single and scored when Bob Avila walked, Al Rosen was hit by a pitched ball and Vic Wertz walked.

The A's got two runs in the first half of the third on singles by Don Bollweg, Jim Finnigan and Elmer Valo, and a throwing error by Avila.

Lemon yielded only two hits in the last six frames. Loser Arnoldo Portocarrero was chased in the eighth, when the Indians bagged four more on a walk by Dave Pope, a single by Sam Dente, a safe bunt by Jim Hegan, a walk by Lemon, a sacrifice fly by Al Smith and a single by Avila.

Larry Doby smashed his 26th homer of the season in the first round of the nightcap following singles by Smith and Avila That gave the Tribe a 3-1 lead, Bollweg homering for the A's in the top half.

Houtteman nabbed his 11th victory in 17 decisions, as Philadelphia's Alex Kellner suffered his 13th loss in 19.

Singles by Wally Westlake and Houtteman produced a run in the fourth and the Indians grabbed another in the sixth on a double by Westlake, a sacrifice by Dente, and a bunt by Houtteman.

Lou Limmer pinch singled, Joe Demaestri doubled and Bollweg flied out in the eighth for the A's final run.

Delaware Little League To Play Benefit Game

DELAWARE—The 1954 Delaware Little League All-Star game for cancer will be played Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Blue Limestone Field.

This is the second annual benefit tilt, and as in 1953 a large crowd of Little League fans from the area are expected. The league champions, who will be crowned this week, will meet a squad of Stars from the other three league teams.

As a second game, the Delaware Little-Big League Elks will play the fathers of the team members in what is being called as "The Battle of the Ages."

Businessman Sets Sports Car Marks In Columbus Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Chicago business executive today owns the speed record for sports cars at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Jim Kimberley, one of the country's best known sports car drivers, set the record, 160.2 m.p.h. for the 3½-mile macadam track, at yesterday's second annual Strategic Air Command sports car races. Kimberley established the mark while driving his Ferrari an average of 96.38 m.p.h. over the 42 laps—150 miles—to win the Buckeye Trophy Race for heavy cars.

Ferraris finished second and third in the race. Phil Walters of Palm Beach, Fla., and Eddie Lunken of Cincinnati, Ohio, trailed Kimberley.

Some 60,000 persons watched the five-race card which attracted 200 of the country's top drivers.

Brooks Belt Redlegs in 20-7 Fiasco

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds ended a disastrous eastern swing yesterday with a humiliating 20-7 setback at the hands of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Bums scored 31 runs in one inning and would have continued their rampage if not for a great catch by Gus Bell.

The tired Reds, who start a home stand tomorow night after an exhibition contest today at Cooperstown, N. Y., managed only three victories in 12 eastern contests.

Nineteen Dodgers batted in the eighth yesterday, seven hitting safely, seven walking, one getting hit by a pitched ball and one reaching base on Chuck Harmon's error. This miscue of Peewee Reese's hopper with two out was followed by 12 of the 13 runs.

Don Hoak's grand slam homer off Frank Smith produced four of the Dodger tallies and Jackie Robinson's single with the bases loaded accounted for three others.

Pitcher Howie Judson started the eighth for the Reds. Gil Hodges opened with a triple and scored on a sacrifice fly. That was the only earned run of the frame. Manager Birdie Tebbetts called on Jackie Collum, Smith and Art Fowler as the flood of runs continued. The situation was dammed up when Bell leaped into the air for Hodges' drive. The bases were loaded when Hodges, who doubled and tripled previously in the inning, strode up to the plate for the third time.

The nightmarish game started off simply enough. The Reds tallied in the first frame on singles by Bobby Adams, Lloyd Merriman and Ted Kluszewski. The first baseman collected three hits and walk before the games ended. The Dodgers got back the run in their half of the inning.

Chuck Harmon's single in the third drove in two runners, including Nino Escalera, who tripled. The Brooks tied the score in the fourth on Roy Campanella's homer. All these runs were off starter Fred Baczewski.

Karl Drews was Fred's relief and he was tagged for the loss, his third in six decisions, when the Bums in the sixth scored four runs, capped by Junior Gilliam's three-run homer. All Drews' losses are Dodger-inflicted.

Carl Erskine, who won his 14th game in 24 decisions, retired in the eighth inning and Clem Labine finished the job.

Marion Trotter Wins Event at Crawford Fair

BUCYRUS—Black Win, a black gelding driven by James France and owned by Robert Brown of Marion, won both heats of the 20 class trot in the closing harness racing season of the Crawford County Fair here Saturday night. The race trophy, the gift of Paul Hildebrand, the fair's superintendent of speed, was presented to Mrs. France.

Winner of the 20 Class Pace was Cyrus Chief, a baby horse, driven by Doc McMillen and owned by M. R. McVay of Westerville, O. Cyrus Chief took both heats.

Four horses in the nine-horse field failed to finish in the first heat when the sulkies jammed on the first turn. Rolland T. Bookmyer of Sycamore, driving Coy Boy, was unseated and his entry completed the two swings of the track without a driver.

A Galena, O., entry, Handsome Grattan, owned by Paul Evarts, won the 25 class pace, winning the second heat after finishing fourth in the opener. The chestnut colt was driven by L. DeBolt.

In the final event, the 25 class trot, Audrey Kuno, a bay mare piloted by Bob Miller and owned by Earl Belch of Columbus Grove, O., was the winner. Fourteen horses were entered in the 25 class pace and 11 in the 25 trot. Other trophy donors included The Pub, Bucyrus Materials Co. and Pickwick Farms, all of Bucyrus.

James Michael, fair racing secretary, hailed the inauguration of night racing as a "complete success." Capacity crowds watched all three night sessions.

WHERE'S BANNISTER? John Landy (right) of Australia turns his head to look for Roger Bannister of England in the mile event at the British Empire games in Vancouver, B. C. But he looked the wrong way because Bannister (left) came up from behind and won the event in 3 58.8. The victory meant that Bannister was the first man in history to win the mile in less than four minutes on two occasions.

Landy Surprised To Lose Four-Minute Mile Race

By JACK HEWINS

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — John Landy, the Australian running machine who flows along like a quiet brook, shook his head today in slight bewilderment over the "Miracle Mile" he lost Saturday to Dr. Roger Bannister of England.

"If anyone had told me I would run the mile in 3:59.6 and finish second, I'd have taken him on a bet right there."

But the great and gracious John L. added "I can't be disappointed Roger was the best runner of the day, there's no doubt."

The 35,000 spectators who filled Empire Stadium for the feature event of the British Empire games would have to agree with Landy. They hoped for, but did not expect, a 4-minute mile. Neither of the two principals in the 8-man race would predict such a blazing speed.

But the track was dry and fast, the temperature around 75, the sun warm on the runners, Bannister said he would have preferred cooler weather, but said conditions were much better than when he ran his world record 3.59.4 mile at Oxford last May.

"I have very great respect for John Landy," said the young Englishh physician, "and I knew I had to give everything to beat him." His everything was 3.58.8—not quite as good as Landy's pending mark of 3:58 but better than Landy on Saturday.

Landy led the way for three laps and up to the final 90 yards. But Doc Roger says he "ran independent of the others. I set my pace for 3:59, which I felt would win."

Bannister ticked off the first lap in 59.2, the second in 59.8, the third in 59.6 and the last quarter in 60.2 seconds. Landy got the big jump that kept him in front so long by wheeling the opening quarter in 58.2. After that his times were slower than Bannister's—60.1 each for the second and third and 61.2 for the last.

Just before Bannister went ahead they passed the clockers at the 1,500-meter mark and Landy was clocked in 3 41.9, topping the world record of 3 43 for the metric mile.

Rich Ferguson of Canada ran the greatest race of his life to take third place ahead of Vic Milligan of North Ireland and Murray Halbert of New Zealand.

Bannister now will go back to England to work at being a doctor. "My medicine comes first," he said.

He does plan, however, to compete next month in the European games at Bern, Switzerland.

Mac's Defeats '53 Champions In Tournament

Mac's Trading Post of Marion advanced further in district tournament play Saturday night at Galion by ousting the defending tourney champion.

Mac's whipped Mansfield Gorman - Rupp, 3-1, in second round play to move to the tourney quarter-finals.

The victory meant that Mac's had now eliminated two of the strongest and former district championship squads. Mac's had edged Ashland Faultless in its opening tournament tilt, 4-3. The district title in the past nine years has gone either to an Ashland or Mansfield team, Mansfield teams winning six times and Ashland three.

Perrysville Sanitary Pottery blanked Upper Sandusky VFW, 8-0, in the other tournament game Saturday night.

Jim Seiter was the hero for Mac's. He drove in the winning runs with a double after Lowell Thacker had walked and Bud England had singled in the fifth frame.

The winners had gone ahead, 1-0, in the second frame when Carl Harbolt singled, moved to third on an error and came in on a wild pitch. England, touched for the lone Gorman-Rupp tally in the third, allowed but three hits over seven-inning distance. One was a homer by Jim LeMunyon of the losers which accounted for their lone marker.

Freddie Zahn of the Gorman-Rupp club surrendered five hits to Mac's with Seiter and Harbolt each collecting two apiece.

Of the 24 teams which started the district tournament, 10 now remain. Three of the 10 are from Marion, one of them Carl's Auto Parts which is in the tournament quarter-finals. Also in the quarter-final round are Mount Vernon Cochran Motors, Mansfield Sons of Herman and Shelby Tower.

Games tonight will find Smitty's All-Stars of Marion battling Galion Iron Works in the 8 p.m. opener and Victory Market of Mount Vernon playing Timken Roller Bearing of Bucyrus in the 9:30 p.m. nightcap.

CITATION'S OFFSPRING SET

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Citation, the world's money winning champion on the track, galloped away with three cups on the Hialeah track—the 1948 Seminole, Everglades and Flamingo. Appropriately the first offspring of Citation will make their racing debuts this winter at Hialeah.

Challenger, Moore Both See Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore defends his crown for the third time Wednesday night and for a change his opponent won't be Joey Maxim. This time the traveling, 37-year-old champ will face Harold Johnson, a fast punching, 26-year-old Philadelphian who feels Archie is ready to be taken.

"He's old and taking off weight at his age is going to weaken him," said the solidly built challenger. "Sure, I know I lost three out of four to him, but I'm more experienced now and ready for him. He's gonna be rough, I know, but I'll beat him."

The trim contender was the last one to whip the veteran. That happened Dec. 10, 1951. A month later Archie trimmed Johnson and he's been rolling along since. His victory streak now numbers 18. Johnson, son of a fighter, has swept his last 12, including decisions over Ezzard Charles, Jimmy Slade and Paul Andrews.

Moore weighed 189¼ in his most recent outing June 7 when he stopped heavyweight Bert Whitehurst in six rounds. He has to make 175 by noon Wednesday.

"I'll make it—don't worry about that," said Moore. "The heat has helped me take it off. I won't be any weaker, either. I had to take five pounds off in a day when I met Maxim the last time (Jan. 27) and you know I wasn't weak."

The 15-rounder will start at 9 p.m. (EST) and will be telecast nationally by CBS.

Hall of Fame To Welcome 9 New Members

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Baseball's Hall of Fame swings the gate wide open to nine new members today at the annual dedication of plaques honoring the game's greatest stars of the past.

Bill Dickey, New York Yankee coach and one of the great catchers, and Bill Terry, the slugging first baseman who managed the New York Giants to three pennants, will accept in person.

Five of the new members are dead. The other two, Tom Connolly, the veteran American League umpire, and Bobby Wallace, a star shortstop of the 1890s and early 1900s, are too ill to appear.

Those honored posthumously are Rabbit Maranville, Ed Barrow, Bill Klem, Chief Bender and Harry Wright. The veteran members of the baseball writers association elected Maranville, who died Jan. 5, on the same ballot with Dickey and Terry. A special oldtimers committee selected the other six.

The World Champion New York Yankees, on their way home from a western trip, will play the Cincinnati Redlegs in an exhibition game at Doubleday Field.

Win 3 From Giants

Braves' Play Brings Chance For Renewal of 1948 Series

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Cleveland's steady stream of victories and Milwaukee's spectacular late-season drive have brought up the possibility of a renewal of the 1948 Indians-Braves World Series rivalry.

The betting gentry probably will give long odds it won't happen but baseball has had miracles before. Remember the New York Giants incredible 1951 finish?

A little over two weeks ago, if anybody had even suggested a Cleveland-Milwaukee World Series, he would have been hauled to the nearest mthouse. Just 18 days ago on July 22, the Braves were mired in National League's fourth place 15½ games behind the Giants. The Indians were leading the American League by a hair-line half-game over the New York Yankees.

What a change these two and a half weeks have brought. The Braves in third place today trail the pace-setting Giants by only 7½ games. Fourteen Milwaukee victories in 16 games have slashed eight lengths from New York's lead. Cleveland has won 15 of 19 during the same period and widened its margin over the Yankees to four games. That is the Indians' biggest lead since July 4.

Milwaukee whipped the Giants again yesterday 5-2 to sweep the three-game series at the Polo Grounds. A fine six-hit performance by southpaw Warren Spahn and a perfect day at bat by slugging third baseman Eddie Mathews were the features. Mathews smashed his 30th homer, off loser Sal Maglie, singled in another run and scored twice.

Effective pitching by Bob Lemon and Art Houtteman and home run hitting by Lemon and Larry Doby highlighted the Indians' 7-2 and 5-2 doubleheader sweep over the inept Philadelphia Athletics. Lemon's homer with one on overcame an early 2-1 Philadelphia lead in the first game. Doby's 3-run homer off Alex Kellner in the first inning, his 26th of the season, got the Indians off to a flying start in the nightcap.

Pinch hitter Jimmy Delsing's two-run homer off the 10th inning broke up a free-hitting affair as Detroit made it two in a row over the Yankees with a 10-8 triumph. The Yankees had overcome 4-0 and 8-5 Tiger leads to force the game into overtime. Delsing's dramatic homer inflicted the fourth defeat upon ace reliever Johnny Sain and gave Steve Gromek his 13th victory.

Brooklyn's runner-up Dodgers closed to within three games of the Giants with a 20-7 romp over the Cincinnati Redlegs. Aided by third baseman Chuck Harmon's two-out error the Dodgers tapped across 13 runs in the eighth, 12 of them unearned, to set a scoring record for that inning. Gil Hodges helped Carl Erskine achieve his 14th victory, banging out four hits including a double and triple in the big eighth.

Chicago's third-place White Sox dropped seven games behind Cleveland on a doubleheader with Washington Rookie southpaw Jack Harshman shut out the Senators 3-0 after Washington had won the opener 7-6. Roy Sievers wielded the big bat in the first game, smashing his 20th and 21st home runs. Roy's first homer came with two mates aboard in the first inning. He's second and snapped a 6-6 tie in the ninth. Jackie Jensen divided four hits, two runs and two runs batted in equally in each game as the Boston Red Sox took both ends of a doubleheader from Baltimore 4-2 and 4-1. The opener was won in the 11th on singles by Jensen and

G&G Wins Pony Loop; Police Nine Tops Indians

G & G Homes has won the first round Pony League title and Fraternal Order of Police has taken the jump on the Marion Indians in their three-game series for the city Teen League championship.

G & G Homes whipped Alloy, 7-4 to settle the first round Pony League deadlock between the two clubs while the FOP squad trimmed Marion's Indians, 6-3, in the series opener for the championship of the 15-16 year-old age group Saturday night at Lincoln Park.

Dave Gallimore went the distance in hurling the FOP team to the win over the Indians. He allowed only eight hits over the nine-inning route while fanning nine, walking one and hitting a batter.

Gallimore had a shutout going for the first seven frames but the Indians came up with a run in the eight and two in the ninth to halt the whitewash bid by him.

The FOP squad had already sealed the win with four runs off starter Phil Carroll of the Indians in the four innings he worked. The winners scored once in the first, once in the third and twice in the fourth. A run in the sixth and one in the ninth concluded the FOP scoring.

In all, the Indian hurlers were tapped for nine hits. Carroll gave up five in the four innings he worked, Larry Corbin the same number in three innings and Harold Jones none in the two frames he hurled.

Carroll fanned five while walking three, Corbin two while walking three and Jones four while walking two.

Pete Bailey with two hits paced the winners' attack. Kenny Ellwood, Tex Burns, Messner, Marlo Barrett, Sanders, Bumgarner and Gallimore all contributed a hit apiece.

Carroll pounded out three hits for the losers. Collecting a hit apiece were Don Shoemaker, Bob Middleton, Gruber, Bill Lavender, and Corbin.

Three runs in the eighth inning, which snapped a 4-4 tie, accounted for the G & G win over Alloy in the opener. Bob Lister went the distance for the winners on a five-hitter. He fanned 11 while walking eight.

Bob Claypool led off the frame with a single and moved around on a walk, passed ball and outfield fly with what proved to be the winning run. Middleton climaxed the eighth-inning rally after two were out with a double.

Loser was Joe Ambrose, who was touched for seven hits. He struck out 10 while walking four.

The game had been tied at 4-4 at the end of the regulation seven innings when G & G scored twice in the second and twice in the sixth and Alloy got two runs in the fifth and two in the seventh.

Jim Anspaugh and Lister both banged out two hits apiece while Claypool, Joe Welty, and Middleton added a hit apiece. Jay had two hits for the losers while Everett Rice,

5 Indianapolis Hurlers Ripped By Minneapolis

By The Associated Press

The Indianapolis pitching staff, a stingy lot virtually all season, relented Sunday and was extremely generous all around as the league-leading Indians bowed to Minneapolis 9-5.

Five Indian hurlers took the mound, starting with loser Sam Jones, and dished out 12 bases on balls which, with 11 hits, made things easy for the Millers.

The game was the first of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was rained out.

Runnerup Louisville advanced a game—to within 15 of the Indians—with a 5-1 victory over Charleston. The Colonels and the Senators also had a doubleheader scheduled but the second likewise was washed out.

In other games:

Ray Moore, St. Paul righthander, blanked Kansas City 7-0 on eight hits.

Columbus and Toledo split a doubleheader. The Red Birds won the opener 6-4 as Stu Miller scattered seven hits — one of them Bill Queen's home run. The Sox won 5-0 in the second—abbreviated to 4½ innings by rain—as Ray Crone allowed four hits for the pitching victory and Jack Daniels smashed a homer.

Pennant activity will be halted temporarily for Monday's All-Star Game at Indianapolis.

Cincinnati Post Takes Fourth Straight Crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati's Bentley Post holds its fourth straight Ohio American Legion junior baseball crown after two convincing victories over Massillon.

The Queen City nine had an easy time yesterday defeating Massillon, 6-1, for its second straight triumph over th enorthern Ohio team. Art Mahaffey, Cincinnati's tall righthander, learned the key to mastering Massillon Saturday, winning 6-2.

Saturday's victory over the team previously unbeaten in tournament play forced the competition into yesterday's contest. The tournament was run on a double elimination basis.

Mahaffey came in to relieve in the sixth inning yesterday and held Massillon to four hits the rest of the way while preventing any late inning scoring. He had allowed only four hits Saturday, also.

Cincinnati will go to Benton Harbor, Mich., for another try at the national crown it relinquished last year.

Youth Overcomes Illness To Share Net Tourney Title

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Jon Douglas, 17-year-old all-star football player from Santa Monica, Calif., was so ill last Thursday he doubted he could compete in the first annual National Junior Chamber of Commerce tennis tournament.

But Douglas recovered enough to team with Mike Franks, another 17-year-old from Los Angeles, and won the junior doubles crown yesterday by defeating Allen Quay of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., 6-4, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1.

Green, a 17-year-old high school senior, won the junior singles crown by downing Quay, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, the fourth time this year he has turned the trick.

A pair of Los Angeles youngsters, Bob Delgado and Joe Cowley, both 15, took home the boys doubles trophy after winning from Hamtramck, Michigan's Gerald Dubie and Ray Senkowski, 6-4, 6-4.

Next year's tournament will be held in San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 4-9, officials announced.

Fageol To Quit After Winning Gold Cup Race

SEATTLE (AP)—Lou Fageol closed out a brilliant career as a speedboat pilot Saturday as he sent two new records rippling across Lake Washington in gunning the Slo-Mo-Shun V to victory in the 47th renewal of the Gold Cup Classic.

It was the second Gold Cup conquest for the Kent, Ohio, driver at the wheel of the Slo-Mo V. He won the 1951 race. In addition, Fageol was credited with an assist—he drove one lap—as Joe Taggart won the grandpappy of speedboat races last year in Slo-Mo-Shun IV.

The Slo-Mo V, newest of Stan Sayres' gold-dust twins, spun the 90-mile Gold Cup course at an average speed of just a shade more than 99 miles per hour. His best 3¾-mile lap time was 104.772.

Both performances established new records.

Stepping form the V at the end of the gruelling race, Fageol said: "Well, this was wonderful for me because it was my last race. I really retired last year, so this was one extra. It was my swan song all right, and you couldn't ask for a better one."

Braves

Billy Consolo and an error by Billy Hunter. The second-game defeat was the 15th by Baltimore's Don Larsen, to make him the losingest pitcher in the majors.

Robin Roberts became the first pitcher to win 17 games and outfielder Del Ennis drove in six runs as the Philadelphia Phillies took two games from Chicago's Cubs 8-4 and 8-3. Roberts was clipped for four runs in the first two innings of the opener but stopped the Cubs cold the rest of the way despite yielding 12 hits. Ennis hit his 19th home run for the Phils in the first game.

Granny Hamner, Danny Schell and winning pitcher Herm Wehmeier all tripled in a four-run Phillie outburst in the eighth inning of the nightcap.

Pittsburgh's cellar-dwelling Pirates surprised the St. Louis Cardinals with a pair of victories 12-4 and 5-3

Presidents, Irish Prepare For Football Campaigns

Coaches Pete Howison of Harding and Ray Robbins of St. Mary high schools have turned toward thoughts of the gridiron as they brush up on various details in preparation for the start of fall football practice less than two weeks away.

Practice begins Friday, Aug. 20, for both Prexy and Irish grid candidates.

Howison and Robbins have both set up two-a-day practice sessions, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, until school begins.

Howison has reminded his Prexy candidates that equipment will be issued at the Stadium on both Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 18 and 19, with physical examinations scheduled Thursday at 9 a.m. at the high school. Robbins will issue equipment Thursday, Aug. 19, but has set no date for the physicals.

Approximately 75 boys are expected at the first session by Howison, who leaves Sunday for the annual football coaches clinic at Springfield. Robbins is expecting to greet 50 candidates opening day.

Both coaches will be seeking to pilot their squads through another successfull season. Harding went 6-2-1 last season while the Irish finished up a 7-1 record. Bright spot seems to be at Harding where 19 lettermen return from last year's squad which lost only to Fremont Ross and Columbus Central.

Returnees are Fred Hazen, Don Schweinfurth, Gary Ballinger, Chet King, Joe Albinack, Joe Snouffer, Bob Caldwell, Hank Rinnert, Abner Thomas, Larry Sager, Larry Harper, Frank D'Eramo, Gene Armstrong, Bob Stauffer and Bob Prater, all seniors, and Dave Townsend, Gary Huber, Tom Hazen and Ted Firstenberger.

Graduation at Harding last June took Doug Bibler, Larry Clinger, Jim Whaley, Bob Hamer, Fred Price, John Obenour and Bob Pryor.

At St Mary, Robbins may be faced with an acute problem with only eight returning lettermen. Fourteen lettermen received their high school diplomas last spring.

Returnees are Jerry Ballenger, John Messenger, John Kelly, Richard Micheli, Roger Micheli, Dick Mounts, Dave Kraft and Bob McMahan.

Missing will be Mike Andersen, Butch Merchant, Ted Kilbury, Pat O'Connor, Larry Ryan, Paul Simpson, Don Shoemaker, Bill Lyon, Chuck Mitchell, Bob Campton, Jack McNamara, Jack Schnitzler, Jack O'Keeffe and Ed Quinn.

Both St. Mary and Harding open their regular campaigns on Sept. 17 but the Prexies will be seeing action in an abbreviated game the week before. Lorain is the opponent in the preview.

The Irish and President 1954 football schedules follow:

Harding: Sept. 11, Lorain preview here; Sept. 17, Columbus West here; Sept. 24, at Bowling Green; Oct. 1, Tiffin here; Oct. 8, at Fostoria; Oct. 15, Columbus Central here; Oct. 22, Findlay here; Oct. 28, Ashland here; Nov. 5, at Fremont; Nov. 12, Sandusky here.

St. Mary: Sept. 17, at Cardington; Sept. 24, at Luna St. Rose; Oct. 1, at Mount Gilead; Oct. 9, Elm Valley here; Oct. 16, Olentangy here; Oct. 22, at Richwood; Oct. 30, Carey here; Nov. 5, Open; Nov. 12, at Big Walnut.

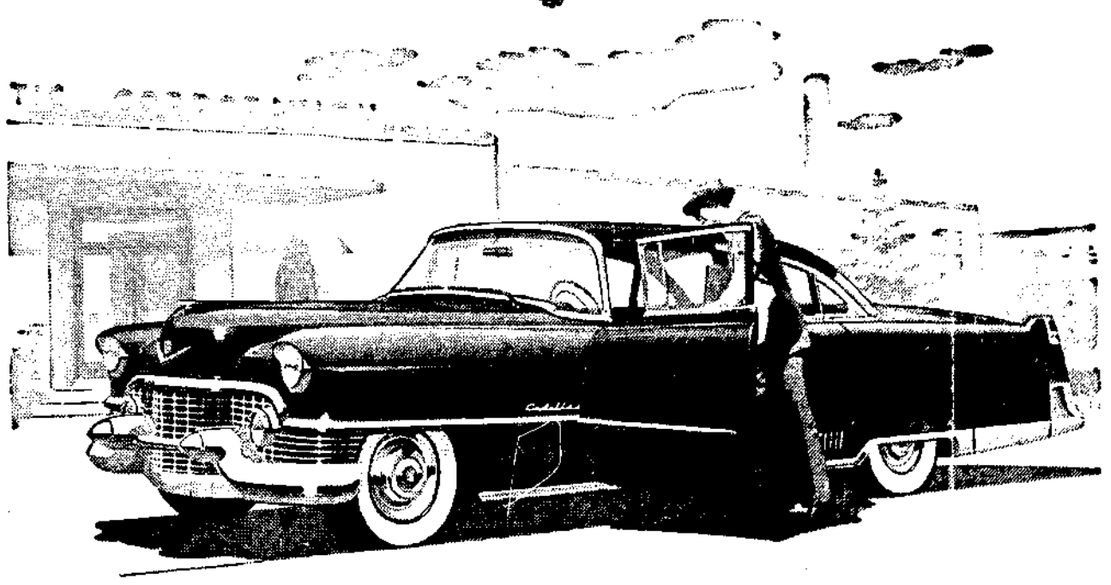
Cadillac



Off on an Hour's Vacation!

To be honest with you, we're not certain where he's going. He may be journeying to a branch office of his corporation . . . or he may be heading home for the day . . . or he may just be taking his afternoon "constitutional" behind the wheel.

But one thing we know for certain. He's about to embark on a little vacation. And for its length, it will be one of the most wonderful interludes a man could hope to enjoy.

For he's about to spend an hour in his 1954 Cadillac—and here, beyond any question, is the perfect remedy for a trying day.

It will bring him physical relaxation—for his Cadillac is so comfortable and luxurious that merely to sit in the driver's seat is to rest. And the car handles and steers with such complete effortlessness that every mile is a tonic for the body.

It will bring him mental refreshment—for the car is such a joy to drive and ride in that a man seems almost automatically to leave his cares at the curbside.

And it will bring him renewed enthusiasm and interest—for every moment a man spends with his Cadillac serves as a stimulating reminder of his past accomplishments—and acts as a wonderful inspiration for planning and thinking out the future.

All this, of course, is the very essence of Cadillac value. All cars offer transportation—and varying degrees of satisfaction. But it remains for Cadillac to provide a definite therapeutic for the mind and body of a work-weary man.

In this glorious respect, there are simply two types of cars: Cadillacs and all the others.

Come in sometime—when life has grown stale with the toil of the day—and take an hour's vacation in a 1954 Cadillac.

It will be the most refreshing sixty minutes you ever spent on the highway—and we'll be delighted to provide the car at any time!

Has Large Stock of Thorium

India Bids for Role in A-Power Field

NEW DELHI (NANA) — India, stocked by a quirk of nature with one of the world's largest supplies of radioactive materials, is bidding for a role as a major power in atomic energy development.

The world's largest supply of Monazite sands bearing Thorium, which can be used in the manufacture of atomic explosives in conjunction with uranium, is being mined in Travancore state, on India's southwest tip

A new atomic factory—India's second—is being built just outside Bombay under a four year program for atom-energy development Under a thick veil of secrecy, another plant at Alwaye in Travancore, has since December, 1952 been processing Monazite sand, from which Thorium is extracted, at the rate of 1,500 tons a year

UP TO NOW quantities of the Monazite as well as Uranium have been traded to secure machines and apparatus for India's atomic energy program "We use it as a valuable exchange material," Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said in parliament recently. "We are in contact with some foreign atomic energy commissions, notably England and France . . . we help each other"

Now, however according to spokesmen of India's atomic energy commission Nehru's government is thinking in terms of atomic development for India itself This nation has enough Monazite, a heavy grayish, lustrous substance whose by-products are used in radio tubes and luminous watch dials, to meet India's power requirements at a hundred times present levels for hundreds of centuries, according to AEC calculations.

According to the commission, India will produce enough Uranium as a Thorium by-product to start a heavy water reactor within two years Thorium and Uranium will be extracted for the breeder operation at the plant under construction near Bombay.

AN AEC OFFICIAL said India planned to stockpile some of her Thorium for future exchange in return for other materials which India requires for atom energy development

India was given the vast radioactive material store — just how big it is has been kept secret — by a strange action of the sea which washed the mineral sands back upon the shore The sands are originally formed as a result of a cycle of erosion and disintegration of rocks of the Nilgiri Hills which run along the Travancore coast.

The monsoon rains wash down the rock fragments, converting them into the sands and washed them into the ocean But due to peculiar sea currents, some of the sand is swept back to the shore and deposited there The ocean itself carries out the first step in separating the mineral sand from the useless variety

The presence of Monazite was first discovered in 1909 by C W Schomberg, a German chemist For many years shiploads were carried away Now all export is banned and the shore is patrolled

JET ENDURANCE

FARMINGDALE N Y (INS)— America's newest jet fighter-bombers can stay up as long as the pilot can stay awake, according to Mundy I Peale, president of Republic Aviation Corporation, where swept-wing F-8F Thunderstreaks are being mass-produced for delivery to U S and Allied Air Forces Four external tanks with 1 360 gallons of fuel can be added to the 650-miles-per-hour Thunderstreak for special missions, and Republic's fighter-refueling system enables "gassing-up" from tanker planes in the air.

The New Jerry Lester

Jerry Lester, a pioneer at the art of keeping people up later than they ought to be, is back at the same old line of work after a fairly lengthy interval of starvation. You gray-beards in the audience will recall that Lester once had a late at night television show on NBC some eons ago which was distinguished, among other things, by the presence of Dagmar, a blonde dish who is statuesque in all directions.

J. CROSBY

Then temperament reared, as it will in show business, and the Lester show disappeared. And so did Lester. Somewhere in the last couple years, though, humility set in and Lester, chastened though hardly subdued, is back on the late evening air where he flourishes like an owl. (Or at least he was back. The Lester show went off for a six-week vacation last Friday but it'll return, it'll return.)

THIS LESTER SHOW is pretty much like the other one — in short, shapeless and characterized by an extraordinary degree of informality. Lester is a graduate of the Catskills where comedians get terribly expert at making it all up as they go along. Naturally, Lester needs help from other people and he has assembled a group which is almost as adept as he is at keeping things rolling with the minimum of preparation.

Included among the helpmates are Bobby Sherwood, singer, trumpet player and thespian of sorts; Nancy Walker, who has an interesting face, can sing and is fairly hep at comedy, and Betty George, who has an interesting body and a flair for making some of the dummest remarks you ever heard.

MISS GEORGE, in other words, is the equivalent of Dagmar — a beauty on a massive scale which seems to be a Lester specialty. On one show, she happened to express a wistful desire to acquire a husband and since then Lester has been trying to marry her off right on the show.

Some of the badinage that accompanies this bit is pretty hilarious. For instance, when Miss Walker was asked by Mr Lester to endorse the bird-brain Miss George's character (in case any prospective husband was interested in that aspect of her), she replied: "She has two very nice traits" — which may be the dummest compliment of all time.

"She's murder with a mop," added Miss Walker thoughtfully. "I give that to you for what it's worth."

Most of the dialogue on the show has this slap - happy, colloquial quality which no writer could conceivably invent. Miss George, for instance, has a way with words, a sort of lower case elegance that I find very refreshing. "People will think I'm sick or something — I can't find a husband." And on another show "I was washing my—uh — things. You know — my girdie."

WHEN NOT ENGAGED in trying to marry off Miss George, Lester and his sidekicks — Mr. Sherwood, Miss George and Miss Walker — engage in sketches which have a decidedly extemporaneous air about them. During these affairs, the actors frequently fracture each other, if not always the audience. Sherwood, who has played stooge to just about everyone from Milton Berle to Bert Parks, is very, very good at this sort of thing, just about the best in the business right now.

Lester is a hyper-tense type of comic, very quick with an insult, and with a storehouse of jokes collected in the Catskills which ought to keep him going roughly forever. The Lester show is an hour-long (11:10 p.m. to 12:10 a.m. EDT, ABC-TV) five times a week and Lester is out in front of the camera roughly 45 minutes of each hour, and seems to thrive on it.

For that hour of the evening you can't find anything much better.

9 Boys Follow Mormon Trail Across Mountains

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Nine weary boys took it easy today after hiking 70 miles across the rugged Superstition Mountains east of here.

They followed the trail their pioneering Mormon grandparents who founded Mesa used in their journey from Utah in the late 1880s. Almost nothing was changed.

The lads, ranging in age from 14 to 18, killed rattlesnakes and other animals and lived for days off wild meat and desert plants.

This Fellow's 'Babies' Get Him Into Trouble

BOSTON (AP)—Vincent Guinta, 29, was arrested yesterday when two detectives spotted him wheeling a baby carriage at an unusually early hour and shouting: "Come and get your babies."

Police said Guinta was selling wine at 75 cents a bottle. They booked him on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

The largest bird having the power of flight is the wandering albatross. One was found with a wingspread of 11 feet, 4 inches.

FLED REDS THROUGH MINE FIELD. A Hungarian refugee family, Mr and Mrs Geza Kapus and 6-year-old daughter, must feel they really "belong" as they are greeted in the White House by President Eisenhower. They started their journey to the U.S. by crawling on hands and knees through a Communist mine field to escape from Hungary. Mrs. Kapus lost a foot when she stepped on a mine.

New Abrasive May Aid In Stopping Auto Skids

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (UP) —A new abrasives product called "highway safety grain," developed by the Carborundum Co., eventually may cut down the country's traffic fatality toll.

A fused alumina abrasive material of great hardness, the new product makes road surfaces more skid resisant when impregnated with it. It already has been tested on some highway sections in western New York, according to the company.

A Carborundum official said scientific tests developed and conducted by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. "indicate that stopping distance of cars traveling 30 miles per hour on wet asphalt highways can be reduced one-third by the application of 'highway safety grain.'"

100-Year-Old Organ Gets Better With Age

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—A 100-year-old organ in use here originally was bought for $900 in 1854.

Sixty-two years later it was hit by lightning. The congregation of the First Presbyterian church here thought it was ruined and sold it for $125 to the Negro First Baptist church, which repaired it.

Church members said the organ's tone improves with age.

Maybe you thought it was baseball. But it's basketball that is the sport watched by the most people in the U.S.

Stock Market Report

Dramatic Price Swings Boost Volume of Trading

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Chills and fever in the stock market of late have sent trading volume up to the best levels in several years.

Dramatic swings in prices of individual shares have mirrored the fast-shifting changes in the industrial scene, as companies fought to survive or to better their position in a highly competitive era.

Ghost of Great Fall

Sharp breaks in the market always bring out the ghost of that granddaddy of all the market breaks — in October 1929. Many have been nervously expecting a general downturn because the market has been climbing fairly steadily for almost a year now.

With each break you'll hear some one say, "Here we go again—like the fall of 1929." So far, we haven't, and most market followers doubt if we will.

Swift upswings are just as likely to bring out cries of: "Here we go again—another wild bull market may be getting under way, like the spring and summer of 1929." Again, nothing like that frenzied period has developed—and public sentiment seems scarcely ripe for it.

In the Wall Street brokerage houses, moreover, they'll tell you that the breaks and upswings alike have been chiefly confined to certain stocks. Most of the gyrations have been explainable by either the rumors or the announcements that throw light on the changing fortunes of individual companies or industries in a shakedown period.

Public Taking Interest

For the market as a whole the pace has been fairly measured. The various stock averages that financial writers quote—mostly blue chip stocks—have climbed for 11 months now, with occasional downturns like last week's. Many of the low - priced stocks, on the other hand, have barely moved at all, until recently. Many brokers would consider the awakening of the lower priced issues to be a signal that the public, as distinguished from the seasoned trader, may be straying to take interest in the market.

Back of some recent big swings in stock prices have been mergers, rumors of mergers, rumors that merger talks were breaking down.

The many stock splits this year, and the reports that others are being considered, have always been good for a nudge to the market.

The government plays such a big role in business now that its policy changes on defense orders have immediate effect on prices of many shares.

Mergers affect not only stocks of the companies involved, but often those of other companies in the same industry, because their competitive position shifts, when their rivals combine. Steel stocks have been a recent example, due to merger talks between Bethlehem and Youngstown.

Competitive turmoil among the auto makers, and mergers of smaller companies, have kept the spotlight on auto shares and furnished some of the most dramatic days at the stock exchange.

Efforts of textile firms to realign and pull out of their industry's slump have furnished fireworks.

Road Talk Boosts Some

Talk of federal spending of 50 billion dollars for new roads boosted cement company shares. It called attention to stocks of makers of earth moving or paving equipment. Some industrial giants, best known for other products, have subsidiaires in the construction field, and their stocks have been favored, too.

A wave of economy in Congress can hit the stocks of some companies. Tax changes can, also.

And the market has some built-in cushions and accelerators.

Stop-loss orders—instructions to sell if the price drops to a certain point—uncover new supplies on a dropping market, and weaken prices further.

The shorts, however—those who offer to sell stock they don't hold—are likely to jump in and buy when prices drop, so that they can take their profit. This cushions the fall.

Followers of charts—who tend to buy or sell at the same time—add momentum to a market whichever way it's going.

Boy, 4, Safe After Thief Steals Auto While Lad Sleeps

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Four-year-old Bruce Parker was safe at home today after an accidental kidnap experience that left him a little hungry and thirsty but otherwise unharmed.

The youngster was found Saturday, still in the car which had been stolen from in front of a supermarket in Allentown, as he lay asleep in the back seat.

Edward Diehl, returning from a hunting trip, discovered the abandoned car on a dirt mountain road three miles east of Lehighton, ending the 37-hour search.

The child's mother, Mrs Albert Parker, left the car keys in the ignition and police theorized the thief drove off in the car without even noticing the youngster in the back seat.

Kentucky Honey Hunter Killed by Sting of Bee

GREENUP, Ky. (AP)—"This sting is about to kill me," Samuel Jones of nearby Caroline told his brother when stung by a bee about 10 minutes before he died yesterday.

Coroner Louis Wright ruled that death was caused by the bee sting.

James Jones, the brother, said they were cutting down a tree when a bee flew up Samuel's sleeve. The two had been looking for wild bee honey.

Wright said the 41-year-old farmer died from anaphalactic shock, brought about by toxin in the blood stream.

Minnesota and Wisconsin are now the only states prohibiting sale of colored margarine.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market sagged a bit in the early afternoon today despite strength in the aircrafts.

Things were considerably quieter after last week's turbulent decline on heavy volume.

Gains and losses—with the losses predominating—ranged between 1 and 2 points at the most today with the great bulk of the price movement rather narrow.

Trading started quite briskly but it soon died down to a walk and much below Friday's huge 3,350,000 shares.

Aircrafts were right out in front from the beginning while selling in the motors was a feature. Also higher were the motion pictures and building materials. Going down with the motors were the steels, railroads, oils, coppers, rubbers, electrical equipments, and the chemicals.

Higher stocks included Lockheed, Grumman, Sperry (on sharply higher earnings), General Dynamics, Oliver Corp., Grumman Zenith Radio, American Tobacco, U S Gypsum, Johns-Manville, Paramount, 20th Century - Fox, and Western Union.

Studebaker was depressed by its heavy first half loss, Packard traded unchanged to lower on a first half loss, and also down were U.S. Steel, Republic Steel, Liggett & Myers, General Motors, Goodrich, Radio Corp., American Telephone, General Electric, Southern Railway, Cities Service, and Eastern Air Lines on lowered first half earnings.

Benson Says Dairy Hike Would Cost Millions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today proposals in Congress to boost dairy price supports would cost the Treasury 100 million dollars a year, and put speculators in a position to "cash in on windfall profits" that might "amount to several million dollars."

Benson made these comments at a news conference with reference to the farm bill now before the senate. One issue raised in the Senate is whether to boost dairy supports from the present 75 per cent of parity to 85 per cent, effective Sept. 1, for a period ending next April 1.

Salesman Held At Bucyrus in Attack on Child

BUCYRUS — Albin A. N. Larson, 28, an unemployed Bucyrus vacuum cleaner salesman, was transferred from Bucyrus city hall to the Crawford County jail here today after pleading guilty to a statutory rape charge at his arraignment Saturday before Mayor Frank P. Sitler.

Larson was held to the county grand jury, which is scheduled to meet here Oct. 4-6. He was unable to furnish bond of $5,000.

Police Chief Arthur L. Stuckert said Larson has signed a confession, admitting intimacies with an 11-year-old Bucyrus girl on two occasions in the Aumiller Park area here. He became acquainted with the girl while selling vacuum sweepers from door to door, police said.

Charges against Larson were filed by Chief Stuckert, who said the Bucyrus had been dismissed by the sweeper firm for molesting young girls. He had been under surveillance by plainclothesmen from the police department for several weeks before is arrest, the chief said. His arrest was made by Police Capt. Donald Ghist.

Weird Medical Practices

Chinese Dentist 'Cures' Toothache With Hammer

By WILLIAM FISH

SINGAPORE (NANA) — The dentist guaranteed that the large hammer he held in his fist would cure the raging toothache in record time and the pain, he said, would not return for at least six months.

The fee, he declared, would be only 50 cents.

The scene of the projected cure was a curbside surgery in Singapore's bustling Chinatown. Chinese peddlers, carrying their wares in bobbing baskets suspended from bamboo poles, elbowed past the dentists's armchair as I settled back for the preliminary examination.

CHINESE ELDERS in clip-clopping clogs, and barefoot children stepped deftly around us as the dentist showed his own gold teeth in a broad grin. He informed me, "I think your tooth stay in."

Then he proceeded to use the hammer to pound a six-inch nail into the pavement, muttering as he did so. The tooth was back to normal before the last blow was struck.

Scientists probably would say there was an element of autosuggestion in the cure. But it is only one of many that would make western doctors and dentists shudder.

Chinese medical practice has its roots in the China of 1,000 years ago. Practitioners hand out "cures" which are completely unscientific and often border on black magic.

But they still find plenty of patients among the 3,000 Chinese who have made their homes in Singapore and Malaya.

OFTEN IT IS literally a cat and mouse business. Cat soup is rated a power body nourisher and is said to be capable of extending the span of life by 10 years — if drunk often enough.

Gourmets steam the cat meat with chicken, black beans, sugar cane and herbs to get the desired effect. There is one catch — the cat must be between 10 and 20 years old. That is why there are virtually no old cats in Chinatown.

Cat soup also is said to be good for tuberculosis. And so are mice. The crudest method of treatment consists of swallowing several live mice in the dried flesh of a nut. Patients who can't stomach that are advised to roast the mice over an open fire and grind them to dust. The resulting powder is taken with brandy.

A similar prescription is used in the cure of paralysis. A dozen live mice are drowned in a bottle of old wine or brandy and left to ferment for a year.

"The stuff works like magic," said one Chinese physician. "A man may be bedridden for years, but after a cup of this mixture he will not only walk — he'll run." Which is not hard to believe.

MISE USED IN Chinese medicine must be as blind as they day they were born. Catching them provides a livelihood for many a Chinatown urchin. A healthy looking mouse is worth as much as 20 cents.

Dog meat is recommended as a cure for malaria. Ginger is used for sunstroke and fainting fits. Bua Bua Tai seeds, which are strung out like a belt of bullets, are believed to provide a complete cure for diabetes.

Dwarf onions are eaten to cure dropsy. The patient sits before a fire, watching the onions roast on a roof tile. As each onion bursts, he snatches it up and eats it. This goes on until he can eat no more.

Crocodile meat is taken for asthma and coughs.

Four Chinese characters, meaning "the dragon disappears into the sea" are written on a piece of paper when a patient reports he has swallowed a fish bone. The physician stirs the paper in a cup of water, muttering incantations at the same time. The sufferer drinks the charmed liquid—and soon his troubles should be over.

Those with a foreign body in the eye blow through a straw into a glass of vinegar until the body is "transferred" to it.

The Chinese cure for goitre is not without a touch of glamor. The sufferer wears a string of pearls to reduce the swelling—but the pearls must be real. Genuine pearls, ground to dust, are administered to soothe children who have fallen sick through fright.

Horrific as some of these remedies may seem, Chinese physicians point to a steady stream of customers to prove that they cure more than they kill.

MAN KILLED IN CRASH

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP)—The state Highway Patrol reported Joseph Mullen, 45 to 50 years old, of Wilkinsburg, (Pittsburgh), Pa., died in a one-car crash yesterday on Ohio 46, 4½ miles south of here.

All except one state requires that applicants for drivers licenses have their eyes examined.

The hit that's changing the sales standings puts you way ahead 3 ways

THIS year Buick has done what no other car has done in more than a generation.

This year Buick has moved into the lofty circle of America's three top sales leaders—a circle once dominated only by the so-called "low-price three." For today, Buick is outselling all other cars in the nation except two of these "low-price three." And each new month's sales figures strengthen Buick's new sales leadership.

You can't do better — if you want the best buy for your new-car money — than to look into the soaring success that is Buick today. You'll find this glamorous new-day beauty puts you way ahead in three important ways — that's for sure. So drop in on us—tomorrow at the latest —and see for yourself that Buick is the buy of the year, hands down.

Come see for yourself why —

Buick Sales are Soaring!

1. More new car for your money

Buick prices start close to the lowest — just a few dollars above those of the traditional "low-price three." But those few more dollars for a Buick get you a lot more automobile—more room, more comfort, more V8 power, more ride steadiness, more solid durability—plus the advanced "tomorrow" styling that has taken the country by storm.

2. More money for your present car

With our great and growing sales volume, we can offer you a bigger trade-in allowance on your present car when you buy a new Buick. After all, the more new cars we sell, the better deal we can make with you. So you get the benefit of our great success in the form of a higher trade-in allowance.

3. More dollars when you trade

Because Buick's broad panoramic windshield has started a whole new styling trend, you can be sure that today's Buick will keep its modern look for years to come. So you are assured of a higher resale figure when you trade-in-ie later on.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

TIRING BUSINESS

CHICAGO (INS) — The young executive who believes he is indispensable may soon become a too-tired businessman, according to a Midwestern psychologist. Dr. W. A. Bagget, chief psychologist for the Kemper insurance group, said two other basic attitudes also help make a businessman tired—his refusal to delegate authority and his constant worry about office problems.

More Efficient Now

Red Ball Express Rolling Supplies for Army Again

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany (NANA) — The U. S. Army's Red Ball Express is rolling again — smoother and faster than when it won wartime fame, but still providing the lifeline to the troops at the "front" in Germany.

When drivers rumbled past from the French ports of La Pallice, Bordeaux and St. Nazaire during the war, they kept right on clattering along until they reached destinations which sometimes lay behind shellfire. Many were lost for days.

Now the hour-to-hour position of each truck in the 600-mile system that ends here at Kaiserslautern is tracked on a big wall map through radio reports to headquarters in Orleans.

IN WARTIME TOO, the emphasis was on tonnage. Books were written and a movie made about the wartime Red Ball, whose trucks hauled 414,142 tons of supplies to the front during the 81-day period after the invasion.

Now the Red Ball system concentrates on safety and efficiency, with night driving eliminated. The old truck system was thrown together to supply the front; the new Red Ball is operated as an emergency standby. Yet the Red Ball remains the route on which the U.S. forces in Germany depend. Logistics officers here reason this way:

The U.S. Forces are now using a lateral supply line from Bremerhaven. Attackers from the East could cut this within hours.

A second supply source for the Americans now in democracy's front lines is the French railway system. But pilferage is high here, the service inefficient and the security dubious. Communist-ridden, the French railways, many supply officers fear, would be paralyzed by sabotage the first day of any fighting.

This leaves the Red Ball, which now operates like a railroad, with relay points spaced along its highways. It connects all U.S. Army and Air Force installations in France, following the same routes used during the liberation.

WHILE TODAY'S Red Ball Express is conceded to be not as colorful as when a good part of the route was under German fire, officers claim it has achieved much more efficiency.

Now Red Ball's fleet consists of uniform five-ton tractors pulling 12-ton trailers. The cargo is about the same — ammunition, food, clothing, medicaments and clothing. Most of the cargoes still travel to Germany, now to the U.S. occupation forces.

The American military uses the peacetime Red Ball to train truck crews and develop new techniques in supply. Today, in contrast to the confusion and improvisation of the wartime shipping system, convoys maintain strict discipline. There is centralized control over all traffic.

Drivers work in relay, taking a Germany-bound truck one-third of the distance to Germany, and driving a returning truck back to their home base. Trucks of the original Red Ball clattered over the route until they almost literally fell apart. Trucks on the run now get a checkup and maintenance at the end of every 200-mile haul.

With the trucks counted on to go into action in any war, the question Red Ball officers are asking is: just how reliable is the lifeline?

Even now, in peacetime, Red Ball trucks are being chalked and painted with "Ami, Go Home" slogans by French Communists. And Red Ball maintenance shops are plagued with petty sabotage, as, for that matter, are almost all U.S. installations in France.

Wartime Red Ball crews kept supplies moving to the fighting front despite German shells.

"But at least then we knew who the enemy was, and where he was," a veteran of the wartime Red Ball outfit remarked. "Today one Frenchman looks like another, and sometimes it seems like most of them are Communists."

TO RECEIVE TRAINING

CAREY — According to Village Manager J. R. Castner, Carey Volunteer Firemen are scheduled to receive 30 hours' instruction in firemanship, starting Monday, Aug. 16. This was recommended by the Ohio Inspection Bureau since there have been quite a few men added when the department membership was increased to 25 several months ago. The 30-hour course is sponsored by the State Deartment of Education. Firemen will receive three hours' instruction each Monday evening for 10 weeks.

TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

UPPER SANDUSKY — Wyandot County sheriff's officers took into custody Charles Walter Stansbery, 21, of Carey, who has been absent without leave from Fort Bragg, N. C., since last July 12. Stansbery was apprehended in a cabin near Crawford and is being held at the Wyandot County jail pending further word from Fort Bragg officials.

REPORTED IMPROVED

UPPER SANDUSK—Dr. R. M. Rossel of Upper Sandusky, who is a patient at White Cross Hospital, Columbus, is reported slightly improved.

Only in a few western states notably Montana and Nevada, are silver dollars still in common use

Bill Before Senate

Lake Central Lines Await Permanent Flight Permit

Aviation backers in Marion are following with keen interest the progress of a bill in Congress which would affect Lake Central Airlines and 13 other local "feeder" lines in the nation.

The bill, which would provide permanent certificates to the local service lines, has been approved in the House and, in amended form, by a Senate committee.

THERE IS A chance it will come before the full Senate this week Its Senate backers are confident they can squeeze in floor consideration of the bill in the hectic rush of legislation which precedes adjournment.

The proposed certification of local service airlines would mean scheduled service on a permanent basis for most cities now served by local airlines such as Lake Central, which serves Marion and many other cities in Ohio and Indiana.

The House committee's report stated that failure of the Civil Aeronautics Board to grant a permanent certificate to any local service airline is now seriously hampering the growth of the carriers and provides a major stumbling block in their further development

This committee, in detailing the principal problems now facing the local feeder lines, cited as foremost the extreme difficulty experienced in securing adequate financing because of the temporary nature of their operating authority.

Added difficulties are occasioned by the type of planes most of these lines now are compelled to use. Their shortcomings make it difficult to reduce costs, it is pointed out. Another problem is the difficulty of recruiting and keeping able employes. Mentioned also is the tremendous cost for legal counsel necessitated by periodic renewal proceedings.

These particular problems it is contended, would be eliminated under a permanent certificate since the airlines could engage in long-range plans which would allow for the development of more efficient craft and operations for short haul business.

IT IS EXPLAINED that the bill now before Congress is basically no different from a similar provision in the original Civil Aeronautics Act which provided for the permanent certification of the trunk airlines Under this plan the trunks were enabled to become more or less firmly established.

Sen. John W. Bricker (R.-Ohio), chairman of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, said of the earlier legislation

"This action was largely responsible for the trememdous growth of the trunk airlines and has resulted in the vast domestic transportation newtork which this country presently enjoys."

Bricker's committee believes that the new bill "will have an equally salutary effect on local air service and all cargo service with concomitant results for the millions of Americans who live and travel in the smaller communities in the country and who utilize the services of the all-cargo carriers"

Before reporting out the House bill the Senate committee amended it to provide for, among other things, "grandfather rights" for the three all-cargo carriers — the Flying Tiger Line, Inc., Slick Airways, Inc., and Riddle Airlines, Inc.

Bricker's committee report held that "as in the case of the local service airlines, failure of the Civil Aeronautics Board to grant permanent certificates to all - cargo carriers seriously hampers their growth and further development."

LISTING SOME examples of how permanent certificates will help the "feeder" airlines the Bricker report said it would assist in obtaining financing by insuring investors and financial institutions of continuity in operation.

"Permanent certificates will be an important step in developing an economical local-service airplane," said Bricker, adding "the primary difficulty in reducing costs of the local airlines has been the lack of a suitable replacement of the obsolete DC-3 aircaraft currently used"

Proponents of certification for the "feeders" insist that the plane "originally designed approximately 20 years ago, is today operationally unsuitable for short-haul transportation"

"However," they add, "aircraft manufacturers are not interested in developing a plane for airlines whose existence is in jeapordy every few years."

"Feeder" airlines provide scheduled air transportation to 440 communities in the United States

Two hundred and sixty communities are served exclusively by local airlines.

THE FUNCTION of the local airline is to connect these small and intermediate-sized communities with each other and with major terminal cities in the region."

The Civil Aeronautics Board is opposed to the legislation. Testifying before the House interstate and foreign commerce committee, Chan Gurney, CAB chairman, declared: "The chief effect which placing local service carriers on a permanent certification basis would have lies in the fact that these carriers would no longer be required to establish at periodic intervals public convenience and necessity for the routes they operate, and the flexibility now available to the board to make necessary route adjustments in the public interest would be largely curtailed."

He maintained that the board's "conviction has been that as a matter of national policy, the supplementary air network described as local air services should be considered developmental in nature until the direction of the local service program becomes known."

In the CAB's opinion, he stated, "the results so far are not sufficiently conclusive to make it feasible to determine the final structure of local air routes or the volume of government support which may be justified in operating those routes"

Will Benefit 10 Million

Corporation Tax Cut Aids Individuals

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tax cut hailed chiefly as a boon to corporations actually will benefit more individual taxpayers than any other one part of the new tax revision law.

Sixth of a Series

Experts estimate almost 10 million persons will pay reduced income taxes next spring because of much faster deductions for wear and tear on new equipment or buildings.

A farmer can benefit if he gets a new tractor or barn; a grocer or other shopowner can benefit if he buys a new display counter; a lawyer can benefit on books for his law library; a doctor gets a tax cut on new medical equipment; a landlord benefits on permanent improvements to his property; even a writer can benefit if he buys a new typewrtier.

ALTOGETHER, individual taxpayers are expected to get tax reductions from this provision amounting to 73 million dollars the first year, much more later. The same provision will cut taxes on an estimated 600,000 corporations by about 291 million dollars the first year.

You can claim depreciation deductions on buildings or equipment which are used in producing income and which have a useful life of three years or more. You can't deduct, for example, on a home or car not used in business. If the useful life is less than three years, you deduct the cost of the item as a regular business expense but not as depreciation.

Depreciation deductions are spread over the years of useful life of an item. They add up eventually to the total cost of the item. They are deducted from your income, before you apply the tax rate.

The new law permits much bigger deductions on new equipment or buildings in the first years of useful life. That means smaller deductions toward the end of the period of useful life. For millions of taxpayers, it means substantially lower taxes over the next few years.

And you can wind up with a big over-all tax cut if you sell the item before its useful life is over—after taking the big deductions in the early years.

THE MORE LIBERAL treatment applies to new equipment bought after last Dec. 31, or to construction started after Dec. 31. If construction was started before then, but completed later, the more liberal allowances apply only to that part of the construction cost after Dec. 31. The new deductions may be claimed in 1954 tax returns due next April 15.

Note: You can't claim the new deductions if you buy used equipment. The old rules still apply in that case.

Under the old law, generally you figured the useful life of the new item and deducted the cost in equal annual installments over that period. Thus a $10,000 item with 10 years of life would mean a $1,000 deduction each year for 10 years. This is called the "straight-line" method.

Under the new rules, you are given several possible new methods of figuring deductions. The most important are called the "declining balance" method and the "sum of the years' digits" method. They sound frightfully complicated, but they aren't so difficult when you sit down to work them out.

UNDER THE DECLINING balance, first you figure the percentage deduction allowed each year under the old law. In the example above, that would be 10 per cent. Then you double the percentage. In this example you get 20 per cent.

Now, for the first year, you deduct that percentage from the total cost. Thus the first year you get a deduction of $2,000 instead of $1,000. And each succeeding year, you apply that same 20 per cent to the remaining balance of the cost—not to the entire cost. You have already deducted $2,000, so in the second year you would deduct 20 per cent of $8,000, or $1,600. The third year you would deduct 20 per cent of $6,400, or $1,280.

In the first three years under the declining balance method, you would deduct $4,880 instead of the $3,000 under the old law. At a 25 per cent tax rate, that would be an actual tax cut of $470 the first three years.

Under the "sum of the year's digits" plan, the rate of deductions is a fraction. The denominator of the fraction is constant—the sum of all the numbers in the useful life. In the example above, that would be 1 plus 2 plus 3 and so forth up to 10. That gives you a denominator of 55.

The numerator of the fraction starts with the number of useful years, or 10. It declines by one number each year. Each year you apply this fraction to your total cost, to figure the deduction.

THUS THE FIRST YEAR your deduction in this example would be 10-55ths of $10,000, or $1,818. The second year it would be 9-55ths of $10,000, or $1,636. The third year it would be 8-55ths, or $1,454; and so forth until the tenth year your deduction would be 1-55th, or only $182.

In this case, your deductions the first three years would total $4,908. This compares with $3,000 under the old straight-line method—an additional deduction of $1,908. If you're in a 25 per cent tax bracket, that would be an actual tax cut of $477 the first three years.

Still other methods are allowed, but none of the others may exceed the declining balance rate at any one point during the first two-thirds of useful life. You can use the declining balance method for part of the period, and then shift at any time to the straight-line method of deducting your remaining balance of cost

Burglars, Robbers Score Big Haul in Portsmouth Area

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Two armed robberies and a burglary netted criminals more than $3,000 and a small arsenal here last night and early today.

Bartender Arthur Holsinger Jr., 27, of the Eagles Lodge, at nearby New Boston told police an armed robber early today took $700 from one cashbox and an unknown amount from a second box, tied his hands and feet, wrapped Holsinger's head in his bartender's apron and tied it, then fled.

Holsinger was still bound when police answered the emergency call he was able to place by knocking a telephone from its stand.

Grocer Frank Caputo reported two men entered his store at West Portsmouth about closing time last night and bought $10 worth of groceries, then one produced a gun and ordered Caputo to empty his cash register and wallet into a paper sack. Caputo set the loss at $376.

The arsenal—including 10 hand guns, a rifle and a shotgun—disappeared from a sporting goods store here early today in a burglary that netted an estimated $2,000 in merchandise.

Your chances are better on CONCRETE

A child suddenly darts into the street ahead of your car. That's when you have to stop—quick! And that's when you're thankful for a pavement that grips your tires and holds!

A concrete pavement gives you a very real margin of safety. Wet or dry, its gritty surface grips your tires firmly, enabling you to stop—fast! At night concrete reflects more light, thus improving visibility and helping to reduce accidents.

Concrete is also far more economical because it lasts longer and costs less to maintain. That's of interest to you, Mr. Taxpayer, for it's your money that pays for street paving.

Save lives—save money: tell your public officials that you want durable, economical, safe concrete streets.

Geologist First To Visit New Guinea 'Shangri-La'

SYDNEY, Australia (NANA) — A lone oil prospector has become the first white man to visit the "Shangri-La" that was discovered in June by an aerial survey party mapping the wilds of west central New Guinea, one of the world's last unexplored regions.

A. O. Zehnder, geologist for an Australian oil company, beat the government's official search party by months when he accidentally stumbled into the hidden valley, cut off from the outside world by 12,000-foot mountains.

He reported the area is inhabited by a race of tall natives living in a stone-age culture and practicing polygamy.

MANY OF THE men are six feet, eight inches tall, wear large wigs of human hair and have as many as seven wives, the geologist said.

"The place is a real Shangri-La," Zehnder said.

"Although the natives in the surrounding country are hostile to whites, the inhabitants of the valley are among the happiest and friendliest I have ever seen."

The geologist said the natives had an advanced form of agriculture and both men and women worked in vegetable gardens.

The only white man the natives have seen spent two days and a night in the valley.

Zehnder began his survey of the area with three other Europeans in March.

"I left the main party to pursue my survey in the Strickland gorge, he said. "I walked three days over hilly country until I came to a huge range of mountains.

"I found an old man near a native settlement and asked him for guides over the mountains. We climbed for eight hours and reached a pass about 8,000 feet up. It was bitterly cold.

"Then we saw the valley, about 2,000 feet below us. It is about 16 miles long and 12 miles wide.

"We stumbled down heavily timbered slopes to the grassy floor of the valley. A large party of armed natives approached slowly. One of my porters called out the local word for 'friend' and they came up to us.

"THEY WERE very curious and we made friends quickly.

They are a fine-looking people. The men wear loin cloths and have bone daggers strapped to their sides. As far as I could make out, they wash only about once a year. Whenever I washed, a large audience followed my every move with amazement."

Zehnder estimates there are about 4,000 tribesmen living in the natural fortress. Before he left the valley, he started the inhabitants on the road to civilization by giving them presents of mirrors, knives, handkerchiefs and soap.

The Australian government is equipping a search party to go into the valley. But it is not scheduled to arrive there until the end of the year because tw omonths will be needed to equip it and it will take weeks to travel through some of the most difficult territory in New Guinea.

The valley is the second "Shangri-La" to be discovered in New Guinea.

The first was found near the end of the second World War when a U.S. military transport plane crashed into it.

The name "Shangri-La" is taken from James Hilton's novel, "Lost Horizon." The book deals with a fabulous valley cut off from the world, where a race of supremely happy people live.

THEIR MISSION IS DESTRUCTION. Grasshoppers go about the task of stripping a corn stalk in this field near Columbia, Mo., which is typical of the insect infested and drought damaged fields across the state. Grasshoppers have chewed corn fields to a point where many are non-productive and some have been cut for silage. The damaging insect invasion and prolonged dry weather have hit farmers hard, making the state eligible for emergency federal relief.

State To Distribute 56 Million Dollars

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes estimates his office will send more than 56 million dollars this month to political subdivisions throughout Ohio.

More than 24 million dollars is being sent out today, Rhodes said. That will include $20,538,205 to county treasurers from the intangible tax paid by financial institutions and securities dealers, $1,947,200 in gasoline tax funds for counties and townships and $1,641,589 to county auditors from sales tax collections. The sales tax distribution will be passed on to cities and villages after each county's share is taken out.

The auditor said within 10 days cities and villages will share in a further distribution of about 2½ million dollars in gasoline tax funds.

Payments of school foundation funds totalling about 30 million dollars are scheduled to go to local school districts later in the month.

Right of Inquiry

Debate in the Senate preceding its decision to turn over the resolution of censure against Sen. McCarthy to a select committee for disposal reveals a legislative problem overshadowing the long controversy over Wisconsin's junior senator as a political personality.

Whether or not this problem can be separated from the controversy and solved is a question that has been raised by many senators. The problem was there before Wisconsin voters sent McCarthy to the U.S. Senate. It is how to set up rules for senatorial investigations that will preserve the congressional right of inquiry.

The senators, themselves, are not so concerned about one member whose activities as an investigator have made him famous as they are concerned about the effect of his activities on the whole subject of congressional investigations. The Wisconsin senator, himself, shares this concern. In his own judgment, he finds nothing wrong with the investigative methods he has used. But other senators, equally sincere and some of them equally experienced, think better rules are needed.

Whatever else may result from the attempt by Sen. Flanders to force a showdown on Sen. McCarthy, there is going to be a showdown on the Senate's investigative procedures. This is a legislative problem that has been neglected too long for the Senate's own good.

Senators with no quarrel against Sen. McCarthy have been shocked, as Sen. Mundt was shocked when he presided over the Army-McCarthy investigation, by the absence of even ordinary rules of procedure. Sen. Mundt discovered, for example, there is no way to convene a Senate committee investigating unless its chairman chooses to call a meeting, a parliamentary fault so inexcusable it would not be permitted to exist in a well organized club. Yet it exists in the U.S. Senate, and as old a hand as Sen. Mundt found out about it by accident.

As far as the investigation of McCarthy is concerned, it would take a miracle to untangle the web of allegations that have been made against him—and no miracle will be forthcoming. But it is not McCarthy as an individual who is important to his fellow senators now. They are giving their attention to the right of inquiry under a government of balanced powers.

Can a City Afford Itself?

The police commissioner of New York City made such a strong challenge to its taxpayers on the problem of adequate protection that their response will be historic in its significance.

They will be forced to answer a question that everybody would like to evade: Can a vast metropolis like New York City afford itself?

The New York police commissioner, speaking only of an emergency in police protection, has asked for 7,000 more policemen on a force now leveled off at close to 20,000. He cites crime statistics to show that the city is on the verge of lawlessness, unless the current trend can be halted. With a police budget of nearly 140 million dollars, the commissioner has warned that he will need at least another 27 million immediately and millions more in a few years.

This is only one part of the New York dilemma. Police protection is a prime responsibility of government. In the case of the largest cities, their size, itself, aggravates the problem of police protection, the same as it aggravates traffic problems, sanitation problems and fire problems.

No politician hopeful of being re-elected in New York City ever would dare to declare the amount of revenue required to pay for all the services that would be desirable to make the metropolis as clean, as safe and as satisfactory to live in as cities a fraction of its size with a fraction of its problems.

The Case of Mrs. Moss

The case of Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, whose name was first brought to public attention when Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy called her as a witness while holding hearings on what he called Communist coddling in the Army, is a puzzling one, indeed.

A wave of protest and denunciation whirled around McCarthy's head for what his opponents described as an unwarranted attack on a loyal government employe.

The Wisconsin senator was castigated for having allegedly made up his mind about Mrs. Moss, who is a Signal Corps worker, before hearing her testimony.

It seems now that her defenders might be guilty of the same thing. The Army has reopened the case "on the basis of information which was not previously available and which has not been satisfactorily resolved by an investigation."

Mrs. Moss was given 30 days to present her case to a security hearing board.

She may be loyal in every respect, but since the Army must have good reason for suspending her a second time, it is quite apparent that her defenders as well as her critics ought to withhold judgment until all the evidence is in.

Losing Citizenship

By James Marlow

Law Punishing Democracy's Enemies Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message Jan. 7, urged Congress to pass a law taking away the citizenship of anyone convicted "hereafter" of conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the government by force.

Congress is now in position to make this recommendation law quickly, if it wants to. It may not, because of the rush to get home. The House has passed a bill to carry out Eisenhower's idea. The Senate Judiciary Committee has approved a similar one. But the full Senate hasn't acted yet.

The idea that a man can be deprived of his citizenship — a native-born or naturalized American — is not new. There are federal laws covering a list of specific offenses for which a man can lose his citizenship. When this happens to him he becomes an alien, even though he is native-born.

HERE IS the list: treason; taking an oath of allegiance to a foreign government; becoming a citizen of a foreign government; serving in foreign military forces; civilian employment in a foreign government; voting in foreign elections; formal renunciation of American citizenship; deserting the armed forces in wartime; departing from or remaining outside of the United States in time of war or during a national emergency with the purpose of avoiding training and service in the armed forces.

Those are the offenses, simplified here for space, under which a man can lose his American citizenship. Some of them were made law in 1907, the rest in 1940. The House and Senate bill would simply add a few phrases to item No. 1 — treason — with this general effect:

A man can lose his citizenship not only for treason but for inciting rebellion against the government or conspiring to advocate its overthrow by force. That phrase — "conspiring to advocate its overthrow by force"—is aimed straight at Communists.

It is already a crime — under the Smith act, passed in 1940 — to conspire to teach or advocate forceful overthrow. And dozens of Communist leaders have been convicted under it.

Just what would loss of citizenship — also spoken of as loss of nationality — mean for a native-born or naturalized American? The Justice Department got up a list to answer that question. This is it:

—:—

LOSS OF THE right to vote, hold public office by election or appointment, or to serve on a jury. A man who lost his citizenship couldn't get an American passport. He couldn't get the protection of the American government if he fell into trouble overseas. He would lose the right to get back into the United States, if he left. Under various state laws covering aliens he could be barred from several professions, from receiving an inheritance, or from owning real estate. He'd have to register and keep the government informed of his whereabouts; and he'd be barred from employment by the federal government and probably all state and local governments.

There is nothing in the bills in Congress under which the government could deport a native-born American who lost his citizenship.

It would be a little different with a naturalized American who lost his citizenship. Just losing his citizenship would not make him deportable. He would have to commit some allied offense, such as having concealed membership in the Communist party when he became a citizen.

This full loss of citizenship outlined here is not to be confused with another situation sometimes misunderstood. When an American is convicted of a felony, such as highway robbery, it is often said he loses his citizenship. He doesn't. He loses some citizenship rights. Just what rights he loses depend on the laws of the state where he lives. Rights he loses include these: the right to vote or hold public office.

A felon who loses citizenship rights can have them restored by a governor or the President. But only Congress could restore full citizenship to a man who lost it.

An Executioner

By TRUMAN TWILL

The doctor at the veterinary hospital has just relayed the surprising news that our big dog is peppered with shotgun pellets. When he came home last night with his right hind leg dangling helplessly and collapsed after he entered the house, we surmised he had been hit by a car.

There was no blood. When I recalled this, the vet said he had wondered about it, too. But the X-ray plates showed pellets, as well as the break in the leg bone. So he had put two and two together to make four.

Add two more and you make six. A year and a half ago, a shotgun pellet was found in one of the dog's ears, where it was imbedded so shallowly it worked itself loose. Not long before that, the dog came home one night and collapsed in the yard. He was carried inside and for several weeks moped around the house. That might have been the time of the shooting. Or there may have been two times. There still has to be an explanation for the shattered bone in his leg.

We would like to say something about people who shoot dogs. For our money, they are in the same category — a little lower down—with people who shoot people. Not the kind who shoot in anger but the kind who shoot in contempt for the sacredness of life and men's obligation to be kind to one another and all other living creatures.

We have no idea what our dog's offense could be. Perhaps it is being alive and coming into the sight of a cold-eyed murderer with a gun. Perhaps he got into a dog fight. Whatever he did, there was no reason to shoot at him with intent to kill.

Everybody who lives within two miles knows where he belongs. Perhaps that is wrong. Perhaps he should be chained to a post or kept in a pen. But if it's wrong to let a dog behave naturally when it is his natural way to range and hunt, that's something civilized men could talk over without gunfire.

There are people who do not like dogs and would like to see all of them purged off the face of the earth. There are people who feel that way about other people—people who are itching to use the lethal needle, the machinegun and the gas chamber. It gets to be a question of whether or not individuals, groups and whole societies are going to respond favorably to the teachings of civilization. There always will be some who will rely on the gun, the knife and the bludgeon.

In myself I can find no forgiveness for anyone who would shoot a dog without giving the person responsible for the dog's safekeeping a chance to save its life. I can find nothing in myself but the same bitter contempt I feel for all throwbacks who betray the hopes of civilized men.

The vet thinks our dog will pull through. Last night after he had been hurt, he and I spent the night together. He couldn't tell me what had happened, and I apparently didn't make a very good guess. But the X-ray doesn't lie about those shotgun pellets. Whether they were fired into him last night or a year and a half ago, someone not far away can shoot a dog without giving him a chance. It makes a difference in the way you feel.

Northern Ore To Aid Iron Supply

By Langevin Cote

SEVEN ISLANDS, Que. The first shipment of ore this month from the 250 million dollar mining development north of Seven Islands dispelled the threat of a North American shortage of iron, peacetime building and wartime metal.

American industries watched with relief the culmination of the four-year mining project. Minnesota's iron deposits, which supplied 70 per cent of the nation's ore, were running out faster than expected, with only an estimated 10-to-20-year supply of high-grade ore left.

The Iron Ore Company of Canada, sponsor of the huge American-backed Quebec - Labrador project, expects to ship an initial million tons this year as facilities are tested and personnel trained.

With 418 million tons proven and exploration still going on, production then will be increased to 10 million tons annually, with most going to steel mills via Philadelphia and Baltimore. Facilities can be doubled when the St. Lawrence Seaway is completed.

The job has been long, hard and costly. Some 360 miles of formidable terrain separated the iron fields from this nearest seaport, a 300-year-old fishing and trapping village on the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

BEFORE A SINGLE ton of the ore could be taken out of Seven Islands by ship, sponsors had to spend 250 million dollars in record time. Since September 1950 they have:

Built 357 - mile mainline railroad and terminal yards through some of the most rugged Canadian wilderness.

Operated the largest civilian airlift in history, also over the wilds.

Provided housing and food to as many as 6,900 men at a time.

Provided dock facilities big enough to receive and load at least 10 million tons of ore in a 220-to-240-day operating year.

Established two new town sites, one carved out of complete wilderness; built two hydroelectric plants and their transmission lines, dug open-pit mines, and set up, crushing, screening and loading facilities. Exploration or more bodies meanwhile is being continued.

The why of all this is simple—the need for more ore. As secretary of the Treasury Humphrey put it at the inauguration ceremonies this month

"You see a great development of a necessary raw material that is required for the preservation of the security of our countries.

"The greatest and surest source of security for North America is the great productive power of these two countries; it is their self-reliance, their self - sufficiency which guarantees their safety and security from attacks from without."

The how of the project amazed the most daring financiers and the toughest construction experts.

By the late 1940's, it had become evident there was enough iron ore in Canada's Quebec-Labrador section to justify large-scale mining operations. No single company could finance such a project.

CANADIAN FIRMS holding original concession rights teamed up with the Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., headed by Canadian mining king Jules R. Timmins; the M. A. Hanna Co. of Cleveland, then directed by Humphery, and five other American steel companies to form the iron ore company of Canada.

The new company invested 100 million dollars and borrowed 150 million dollars from 15 American and four Canadian insurance companies.

Workers came from all over, the majority, however, from Quebec and nearby Newfoundland. Four Canadian companies were called in as contractors, American consultants helped.

The task was broken down so everything could be done at once. Transports flew in supplies ahead of track - building teams after dismantled bulldozers, airlifted by smaller seaplanes and reassembled, cleared landing strips in treacherous valleys.

For more than two years, the longest period without flight—in a region noted for some of the world's poorest flying weather—did not exceed 48 hours. As many as 96 flights left one landing strip in 24 hours. More than 170 million pounds of freight and 138,000 passengers were carried without a single injury or death.

Railroad crews had to piece or cut away mountains, build 17 bridges—one 155 feet above Moisie River—scoop up and fill in miles of treacherous northland muskeg. They had to fight blizzards and black flies. Often rampaging spring floods swept away months of work.

THE PROJECT was completed a year ahead of the original schedule.

When the operation reaches its full 10 million-ton production, seven to nine trains each made up of 100 to 115 cars will roll daily.

Because of weather, the mining season is expected to last only 150 to 180 days a year. Ore will be stockpiled at Seven Islands where the navigator season is longer. Up to six or seven ships a day will call at the port, making it one of Canada's busiest.

Company officials point out that completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway will make it possible to ship enormous tonnage over a well-protected inland waterway to the Great Lakes steelmaking centers.

Experts believe the proven reserves in the Quebec - Labrador deposits will increase as exploration continues. The present reserves take in only ore containing at least 50 per cent iron. Vast quantities rated commercially valuable roman; geologists think only the surface of the high-grade ore has been scratched.

Speaking of Dictatorships

By MARK DANA

Our Army gets braver and tougher, even reckless. Col. John R. Dilley, commander of our Northern Area forces in Germany, must be out to win a medal for heroism by issuing that order trying to regiment women's clothes.

True, it applies only to American women living in U.S. Army installations in his own command area, where indubitably he has lots of militaristic jurisdiction. Probably the wives and daughters of our soldiers and officers will obey the stern decree lest their menfolks suffer, but life may become rugged for the Colonel if not for the ladies.

Without any chivarlous circumlocution, he declaimed that "the attire being worn in public by some American women is not in good taste." (Wait until he gets back home!) His prohibitions were specific and sweeping.

No bare backs; no halter-type sunsuits without a jacket or wrap; no bare midriffs; no strapless low-cut dresses except at social events. Growing bolder as he dictated, he banned shorts for all females, and blue jeans on grown women.

Taking a deep breath and a vitamin pill, he denounced "pin curlers, or any curlers on hair unless neatly covered by suitable scarf or headgear."

Maybe the decree was largely to convince the watchful Russians that our military men are fearless, long-suffering or patient or tolerant up to a point — even the appeasement point — yet able to reach a limit and say so. World War II veterans in Europe, and Army and State Department civilians who went over afterward, will recall intermittent efforts to have the Germans respect Americans, and this gesture may prove as fleetingly futile as prior ones.

Almost any husband or father of a teen-age daughter, balked in household assertiveness, will wonder what brand of nerve tonic the Army now issues to its commanders.

You've got to hand it to Branch Rickey. By means of a complicated formula he has originated for analyzing the statistics, he comes up with word that Babe Ruth was quite a ballplayer.

One of the Secret Service men who accompany President Eisenhower around the golf course is said to carry a submachine gun in his golf bag, and many a duffer has had to play shots where he'd have appreciated something like that to end it all with.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

John M. Brigel, who was named deputy probate judge of the county in 1896, was a native of Marion. Educated in the local schools, in his youth he learned the saddlery trade with his father, Michael Brigel a native of Germany. He remained with his father in business for three years and later spent eight years with the T. M. McGruder Novelty Saddlery Works. At the time of his appointment as deputy probate judge he was connected with the "Big Four," now the New York Central Railroad. He was appointed to the office by Judge F. J. Schultz, and served under his two successors, Judge M. J. Burke and Judge George H. Foster.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

It's in the News

The new federal income tax law is so touch on the mind that it may be cheaper to pay the old tax than pay the legal staff required to interpret the new one. Joe Zilch says that if he figured it all out he wouldn't save money but would qualify for a medal.

Syngman Rhee, agree with him or not, is a top sample of the non-cobbling warrior who never loses sight of the goalposts. . . What he needs for Korea is money and it must have seemed strange for him to ride up Broadway through all that gold and get nothing but ticker tape.

Marlon Brando has been cast in a singing role in the movie of "Guys and Dolls." This is versatility in 3-D. Marlon, now in a knockdown and dragout movie of waterfront crime, is doing a film as Napoleon and recently played Caesar. . . It's gonna seem strange associating Napoleon with "I've Never Been in Love Before" and tying a Roman Emperor into the mood of "A Bushel and a Peck."

Victor Borge, resuming his one-man Broadway show after a month's vacation, tells of the fun he had on his Southport farm, but nary a word about the fact he spent a good part of it on his yacht, which guarantees him complete flight from farm cares. Victor cruises Long Island Sound in a supercooper cruiser. . . The natives took their kids to the waterfront, pointed out Victor's boat and said, "So you don't wanna take piano lessons?"

He uses a prune stool when studying charts . . . And refuses to answer the question, "Do you read the compass or navigate by ear?"

The mayor of Istanbul, visiting America, says psychiatry might be a good approach to world peace . . . But how are you gonna get this obstreperous planet on a couch? Ann has the U. S. enough sofas for the job?"

An American, Dr. Joseph Cort, 29 and a few years out of college, has ignored his draft summons and chosen to live in Czechoslovakia. He may be a good physician but he is certainly a poor judge of health resorts. Our guess is that his answer to patients who say "I get dizzy spells and lose my sense of direction," can be nothing but a firm "So do I."

Lifeguards at a Jersey beach have gone on strike . . . Want shorter swims, longer rest periods between rescues and overtime for towing in women weighing over 150 pounds, perhaps. . . Can you imagine a picket's banner reading "This Beach Unfair?"

We were talking with a lifeguard the other day. . . "We got a good sunburn, but there's no future in it," he said sadly. "We need a pension fund to take care of lifeguards when they can't swim fast any longer. Every lifeguard faces the day when no girl wants him any more even when up to her neck in rough water." . .

The day may come when the lifeguards of America will have their own J. Caesar Petrillo or Mike Quill working to see that they are not imposed on by summer vacationists, bathing beauties and weak swimmers. . .

At present a lifeguard can be dispensed with at low tide, but Mike or Caesar would insist that a staff of guards be kept on duty whether anybody was bathing or not. (We can even imagine a rule on all bathing beaches requiring a standing crew of lifesavers even if people on the beaches insisted they were just out for a tan and had no idea of going into the water.)

The fight continues against a huge sign advertising sugar opposite the United Nations . . . We can think of other ads that might more properly fit the scene and be helpful to harassed world diplomats. . . "Don't Be Half Safe," the theme of one big national advertiser, for instance, could stiffen the U. N. backbone, as could "Fast Relief From Headaches," "Stops Irritations" and "End Your Troubles. Cook With Gas." In moments of extreme perplexity a delegate might find cheer in gazing from the windows of U. N. and seeing "Duz Does Everything." It wouldn't be bad if the Soviet delegate, all set for a stack-blowing speech, could see a sign "Cool Off With Cola."

Variety Chief Asset of Show, Sullivan Says

By SYD KRONISH

NEW YORK (AP)—There is an old saying "Once a newspaperman, always a newspaperman."

This adage especially holds true for Ed Sullivan who lets his newspaper background guide him successfully as host of CBS-TV's Toast of the Town.

"I try to give variety to my variety shows." Sullivan confides. "If I did the same thing every week Toast of the Town wouldn't have lasted one season.

"I'm just applying the newspaper technique A writer can't write the same type story every day He has to vary his writing to make it interesting That's my TV attitude.

"This fall I intend to continue the same pattern Scheduled are more biographies of famous living Americans Our next one will be the life of movie producer Daryl F. Zanuck. His story is so rich and stimulating that it will take two weeks—Sept. 12 and 19

"In addition I hope to again bring to this country much of Europe's best talent."

Sullivan, who has been a newspaperman for more years than he's like to mention, is a warm, pleasant fellow. He has won recognition by making friends — not enemies.

"Folks in all sections of the country like animal acts and talented kids," he says Again it's the old newspaper technique Newspapers like to print good pictures of animals and children.

"One thing I have found out, however," says Ed emphatically, "If a performer or act is a hit, they are appreciated in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and all the small towns between. It's amazing but there is no sectionalism involved In reverse, the same thing is true. An act in bad taste is disliked everywhere."

There were several boatloads of fishermen including a diving student to verify the story

The bass broke Carr's line after a 10 minute fight A few minutes later the fish began bucking water trying to shake the plug from its mouth

Using the bass last as the surface Carr started to lift it into the boat but it broke away again and repeated the acrobatics

Carr borrowed a net and scooped up the bass the next time it stopped to rest

ACROSS THE COUNTER

"I think I can buy my car insurance at a little less cost some where else," Bob Miller said

"Perhaps, Bob" I replied, "but aren't you forgetting something?"

"What?" he asked quizzically

"Auto insurance is not a commodity like radios or peanuts It is a contract that agrees to pay for certain losses and also agrees to perform certain services"

Earl J Andrews

Bob looked amazed, "That's true," he said, "I'd never thought of it that way"

"The key to the value of your auto insurance, therefore, is NOT the initial first cost The key is how well the Company PERFORMS If you don't have a loss, all policies look alike If you do, you will discover that there is a great difference in the way some companies meet the obligation of their contract"

"I see what you mean," Bob said "One contract is as good as another UNTIL you have to use it"

"Exactly," I replied "The companies were present have been carefully selected From long experience we KNOW they have the ability and willingness to pay claims promptly and give good service We also know that's the kind of treatment you would want in event of loss"

"You're 100% right" Bob remarked "Go ahead and write an auto policy for me Good service is what I really want"
